London, April 24.
The Prince of Wales and the Duke of York played in the Household Brigade Junior Golf Championship at Bohampton, S.W., to-day.

The Prince of Wales came well prepared against the rain.

He had waterproof overall trousers, and a large golfing umbrella of varied colours.

He played in partnership with Major J. R. Ald.

EVENING SLEEVES

It is one of Fashion's inconsistencies that, after we have gone bare-armed all the winter, many of the new evening gowns for summer are made with long, tight-fitting sleeves finishing in points or ruffles over the hands. In other models sleeves are suggested by means of clever shoulder draperies.

Not all the long sleeves are attached firmly to the dresses. Some merely clip on to the bodices under the arms and fall away from the tops of the shoulders, giving the fashionable "slashed" effect. There is sound sense in the idea, for you are able to vary the appearance of the frock by simply putting in or taking out the sleeves.

It is possible, too, to follow the prevalent "two-materials-in-one-dress" fashion by having sleeves of lace in, say, a satin frock; of lame in a chiffon velvet one; or of chiffon in a heavy crepe romaine dress. You get decorative contrast this way and, if you like, you can have two sets of sleeves for the one gown—a pair in the same material and another pair in a contrasting fabric.

SIXTEEN STONE ON THE AIR

Babe Ruth, the 18th star of the New York Yankees baseball team, has signed a 13-weeks broadcasting contract, at a salary of £600 a week.

The arrangement will rather more than double his present baseball salary. It will also arouse envy in British broadcasters, whose highest fees in relation to American fees are in the proportion of £10 to £100.

Although hit by the depression, Babe Ruth is still by far the highest-paid professional sportsman in the world. With his receipts from such side-lines as "Babe Ruth" cigarettes, sausages, and even baby powder, his new broadcasting contract will bring his income up to nearly £30,000.

THROUGH FOREIGN EYES.

"Morgenrot," the German film which was the subject of so much official discussion last year, has been passed for British exhibition at last. It opens at the Curzon Cinema on Tuesday evening. This episode from the war—as seen through foreign eyes—is worth attention for many reasons, especially its technical accuracy. Pictures of a German submarine at sea, submerging, having a duel with a British Q ship, and finally becoming derelict, are magnificently handled. The narrative appears to have been cut somewhat, but this does not spoil the effects, as the small romance which accompanies the oceanic photos is only a pretty shadow. A battle between a British craft flying a Danish flag and a U boat, caused comment when the film was first made.

"Ole Bill," the famous War-time omnibus, and some 200 drivers and conductors attended the funeral at Plumstead Cemetery of Thomas Waldek, 48, of Station Street, Plumstead, an omnibus driver attached to the L.P.T.B. garage at Plumstead. Waldek, who was a native of Kimberley, South Africa, was an original member of the 90th Company of the Auxiliary Omnibus Service which operated with the British Expeditionary Force in France.

BUDGETARY REFORM

The Budget became unbalanced largely because about 60 per cent. of the Government's revenue came from the Customs duties. Payment accounts and Civil Service wages fell into arrears. Moreover, during the active and buoyant days after the War Argentina increased her debt by borrowing about U.S. $280,000,000. Fortunately the Government decided to face the realities of the situation and did not seek, as so many have done, to outmanoeuvre them. Drastic economies were made, including a general reduction in Civil Service personnel and salaries; the whole of the internal debt was converted from a 6 to a 5 per cent. basis; and the Treasury bill rate was reduced to 3½ per cent. Borrowing was almost stopped, taxation was increased to meet current expenditure, and this involved the introduction of such measures as the graduated income-tax and turnover tax. In consequence the Treasury became less dependent upon Customs revenue, for the proportion of the latter to total revenue in 1933 dropped from 60 to 40 per cent. The Budget for last year is expected to balance at the reduced level of $745,000,000, and a further reduction is looked for this year.

Arrears of Government accounts and the large internal floating debt were dealt with by a long-term loan and the blocked peso loans. The floating debt in London has been reduced from £5,000,000 to £355,000, and that in New York from U.S. $50,000,000 to $18,000,000, the repayment of which has this month been arranged on a basis of half-yearly instalments over five years on a 3½ per cent. interest basis.

When Mr. Neville Chamberlain sits down on Tuesday after his third Budget speech, he will still have had less experience of this task than Mr. Lloyd George (seven Budgets), Mr. Churchill (five), Sir Austen Chamberlain (five), and Lord Snowden (four).

On the other hand, although Mr. Lloyd George still heads the list, the achievement of the Chamberlain brothers with eight Budgets between them over a period of thirty-one years will put their joint record ahead of that of the Liberal ex-Chancellor.

Should the Government remain in office for its full period, Mr. Chamberlain, who is the subject of to-day's portrait, will join his brother and Mr. Churchill in the select band of those with five Budget speeches to their credit.

MR. BALDWIN'S ORATORY

As one would expect, Mr. Baldwin scored heavily at the opening of the London Library's new buildings yesterday.

He began in the familiar vein of the plain, blunt man. He was a little deprecatory and a little humorous. He made one or two apt quotations. Then he turned to sentiment.

Only a very skilful orator could have successfully ventured on such a peroration as he did before so sophisticated an audience.

POSTURES FOR READING

Mr. H. A. L. Fisher, whose dry and polished style of oratory contrasted well with Mr. Baldwin's, drew laughter when he mentioned the various postures in which to read a book. These ranged from the hard-backed chair to the hearthrug.

Neither he nor Mr. Baldwin—who voted with reservations for the hearth-rug—seemed to consider reading in bed as worth enumeration. Yet it has had many partisans, from Dr. Johnson downwards. And if the practice of the majority is to decide the question, it would, I am sure, easily win to-day.

Puzzled

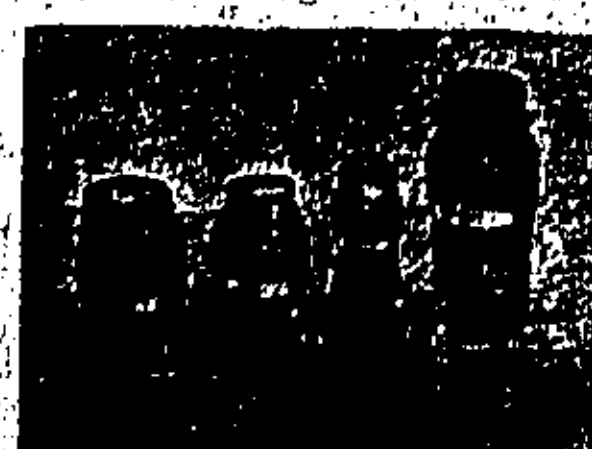

The portrait painter approached the old villager and offered him some money if he would allow him to paint his features. Old Ben hesitated and then shook his head.

"It's money easily earned," prompted the artist.

"O! know that zur," replied Ben, thoughtfully stroking his whiskers. "But O! were just thinking how O! should get the paint off afterwards." —Pearson's.

The best way in which to clean hair brushes is with spirits of ammonia, as its effect is immediate. No rubbing is required, and cold water can be used just as successfully as warm. Take a table-spoonful of ammonia to a quart of water, dip the hair part of the brush, without wetting the ivory and in a moment the grease is removed; then rinse in cold water, shake, well, and dry in the air, but not in the sun. Soda and soap soften the bristles and invariably turn the ivory yellow.

A simple way to remove grass stains is to put butter on them and lay the article in hot sunshine, or wash in alcohol.

Fruit stains on the hands or cloth might be removed by rubbing with the juice of ripe tomatoes. If applied immediately, powdered starch will also take fruit stains out of table linen. Left on the spot for a few hours, it absorbs every trace of stain.

To make linen beautifully white, prepare the water for washing by putting into every ten gallons a large handful of powdered borax; or boil with the clothes one teaspoonful of spirits of turpentine.

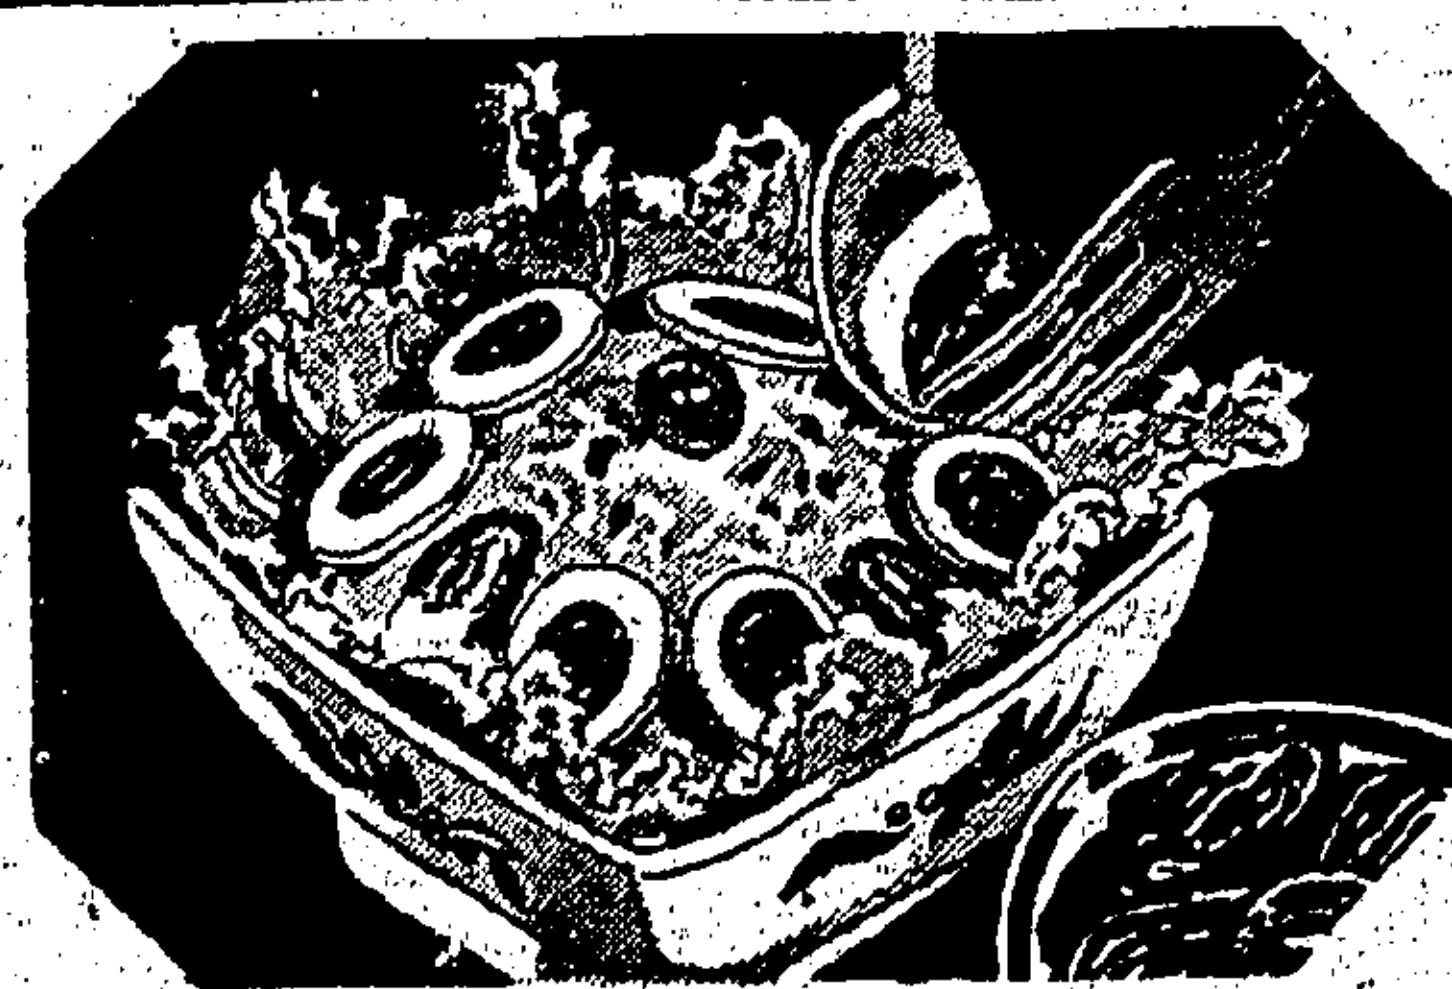

Fruit stains may be taken out by boiling water. Place the material over a basin or other vessel and pour the boiling water from the kettle over the stains.

Potato Salad

If we have long despaired of ever making the potato salad of our dreams, those small, yellowish, waxy circles so deliciously flavoured, we can do our best to imitate it.

The waxy Dutch potatoes, often so glibly recommended, are far from easy to obtain, and these of course, are the ones we ought to use. But we can make surer of a waxy slice if we choose as waxy potatoes as possible, and then boil them with they are still hot.

Unless they are to be dressed with mayonnaise, many declare that they ought to be dressed while still warm, so that the dressing penetrates well into the potato. But this is rather a matter of taste.

It is important, however, that a mayonnaise dressing should not be used too long before the salad is wanted, or the whole thing will present a wilted appearance, which is far from appetizing.

Personally, I am a great devotee of chives, or even onion, in potato salad; parsley also is a sine qua non, and, in the summer, a little chopped tarragon, and chervil. Even a rubbing of garlic round the salad-bowl might be indulged in surreptitiously, if we are having a lazy afternoon free from visits.

Dressings

Here, anyway, are one or two out of the very many ways of dressing potato salad. This is a French bourgeois dressing, curious to us because it contains wine as well as vinegar. It is for about a pound and a half of potatoes: four tablespoonfuls of olive oil; one tablespoonful of vinegar; two tablespoonfuls of white or red wine; three or four tablespoonfuls of cold stock or water; a coffee-spoonful of salt, and a good pinch of freshly-ground pepper.

Add also a spoonful of chopped parsley, a little chopped chives, and, when in season, chervil and tarragon. The dressing should all be absorbed by the potatoes.

Another way is to add the salad oil about half an hour before the salad is wanted, and then, at the last moment, dress with the vinegar, salt, pepper, and chopped parsley, tarragon and chervil. The proportions are those of the ordinary vinaigrette dressing—

SUMMER TIME IS Varying The Flavours SALAD TIME Of Dishes

Some Continental Recipes

Every housewife will welcome new suggestions for delicious salads to tempt jaded appetites on these hot days, the dressing of plain green salads, some novel Continental recipes are given to-day.

Delicious salads, which can be served either as a hors d'oeuvre, with the meat or as a separate course, can be made by stuffing baked potatoes with savory fillings. You need floury potatoes for these salads, and choose ones fairly even in shape and oblong, rather than round. Scrub and dry them, then bake them in the oven until they are quite cooked. New cut them in two lengthwise, and scoop out the insides, which you will put aside to mix with the other ingredients. Good eating apples, chopped fairly finely, and seasoned with salt and pepper, make a good filling, mixed with the inside of the potatoes roughly chopped. Bind with mayonnaise, put the mixture into the potato cases and sprinkle chopped walnuts over each one. In season, celery can be substituted for apple or used in combination with the apple and potato, or the inside of the potatoes can be mixed with an equal quantity of tomatoes, and seasoned with salt and pepper and dressed with an egg dressing. A little chopped onion—not more than a teaspoonful to each half potato, can be added if you like.

Yet another delicious filling is the mixture used for Russian salad—carrots, peas, beans and young turnips cooked separately and drained thoroughly, and then left to cool. When cool, chop the carrots, beans and turnips finely, to match the peas in size—mix well together and dress with mayonnaise. Cubes of ham and beetroot can be added as well. This Russian salad is also delicious on its own.

Egg salad is particularly good, too. For this cut the hard-boiled eggs into two and remove the yolks, adding a little prepared mustard, salt, pepper and enough olive to make the preparation into a smooth, thick sauce. Then add vinegar or lemon juice to taste, and mix well. Meanwhile, line a salad bowl (or individual plates if you prefer) with crisp lettuce leaves, sprinkle with the whites of the eggs cut into slices. Pour over the sauce made with the yolks and sprinkle with chopped parsley. When spring onions are in season, add a few, finely chopped; they greatly improve the flavor.

And here is a delectable salad that provides an excellent way of using up remains of cold meat. Cut the meat into small pieces (add a little ham to it if possible), put into a salad bowl and add half a beetroot cut into small cubes, an apple, peeled and cut into cubes, a few pieces of celery, a few slices of tomatoes, salt and pepper to taste and a few slices of cold cooked potato. Dress, with a vinaigrette dressing, made from salt, pepper, olive oil and vinegar, in the proportion of one spoonful of vinegar to two of oil, mixing a little prepared mustard into the vinegar (in which the salt has already been dissolved), before adding the oil.

Like potatoes, tomatoes make delicious salad if they are stuffed with savory fillings. Prepare the tomatoes (allowing one for each person) by cutting off a little piece from the top of each and scooping out the flesh. This can be roughly chopped and mixed with cooked green peas, seasoned with salt and pepper, or with chopped apple and celery, dressed with mayonnaise. Pack into the tomato cases. With the green pea filling, use a cream dressing. Shredded pineapple, with a little chopped onion added, mixed with the tomato flesh, is another delectable filling; here you will use a vinaigrette dressing (without mustard), while yet another suggestion for stuffed tomato salads is cold cooked potato, neatly chopped and dressed with a cream dressing, to which the sieved flesh of the tomatoes has been added. Stuffed apples are another salad suggestion; for fillings, try chopped celery and walnuts with mayonnaise dressing; chopped tomatoes and shredded lettuce, with cream dressing; beetroot and celery with egg dressing, or oranges with cream dressing.

salt and pepper to taste, parsley, and chopped onions or chives. Mix the potato slices, dice of hard-boiled egg-whites, and this dressing well together. The whites give a pleasant texture to the salad.

And, above all, use pure olive oil and nothing else, and wine vinegar.

Very inexpensive seasonings, added to the plainest meal, and involve but little extra trouble for the cook. Assuming that salt, pepper, and butter or other fat to taste are essential in most meat and vegetable dishes, one thinks immediately of the large groups of "yarks" for seasoning of which many can be grown in the home garden.

You can dry celery leaves by hanging them up in a paper sack, and use them in soups, stews, and stuffings. Celery seed keeps well and a small amount goes a long way in potato salad or cold slaw as well as in soup. Chopped mint or watercress adds greatly to a stuffing for roast lamb and other meats. Half a bay leaf is enough to flavor 3 quarters of soup, and is the basis of the elusive spicy flavor in some of the good German cooked foods in the delicatessen.

Onion is a flavour in a class by itself. A little onion gives pep and zest to many foods otherwise a little flat in flavour. One reason onion is not always liked is that its presence is too overpoweringly evident. Judiciously used in white sauces, milk soups, stews, meat loaf, stuffings and raw in salad, onion is certainly the housewife's best friend. Garlic must be handled with even more restraint. Merely rub the bowl in which you are making a French salad dressing with a cut button of garlic to get the faint suggestion of flavour.

A few drops of lemon will do much for meats of mild flavour, such as veal, cold cuts of lamb, ox-tail stew, or jellied meats, and particularly for fish of all kinds. Try lemon seasoning on spinach and some of the other green leaf vegetables, too. The commercial sauces, such as Worcestershire, soy, and others, also contribute savour to cooked meats, cold cuts, and gravies, if used sparingly and not so often as to make every dish seem the same.

Spices have their place among the flavours for meats and vegetables. Curry, of course, is used for a number of dishes of East Indian origin, such as curried chicken or lamb with rice, or mulligatawny soup. A "ghost" of curry powder is good in French salad dressing and in cooking lima beans. Germans like a trace of mace with green beans or canned beans and some people like a few grains of nutmeg in chicken soup. Another spice to use is clove—just a pinch—in tomato sauce for meat. Horseradish sauce goes well with beets, and other vegetables, fish, or in some salad dressings. A small amount of dry mustard and molasses added to canned beans will improve them. Enough paprika to make a French dressing pink adds its looks and flavour, and paprika is attractive when sprinkled over mashed or creamed potatoes and other "neutral" coloured foods.

Bottled tomato catsup or chili sauce is one of the flavours that can too easily become a habit if put on everything, but a mixture of mayonnaise with either makes a very good Russian style salad dressing. A small amount of dry grated cheese on a vegetable or salad or soup will give a new and different taste to the dish. This is a culinary secret that is made the most of in Italian cookery.

Each bottle contains 2400 drops of Concentrated flavour

Greatly improves hot and cold meats, soups, fish, game, gravies, etc.

Perhaps the greatest cooking secret of all known to the experienced chef is the utilization of every bit of flavour of the drippings and browned meat juices in a roasting pan or skillet, if they are not scorched. A thrifty housewife, likewise will boil a little water in the roasting pan after the meat is removed, to rinse out these juices. She adds this good material to her soup kettle into which also go all clean bones. When she makes a stew she browns her meat and vegetables in a little fat before she simmers them in water, and she knows that browned flour gives another distinctive flavour to any gravy. Extra chicken fat she uses to make a savory gravy to serve on rice for a luncheon dish.

With the exception of lemons, most of the seasonings which make food interesting and appetizing can be kept on hand on the pantry shelf. A few cents will buy a very good assortment of spices, herbs, and commercial sauces with which to start a seasoning shelf.

Hot Weather Sweets

AMBROSE HEATH

Puddings baked and boiled may be acceptable during spring weather, but when the hot weather sets in we discard them in favour of frozen or chilled sweets. The cookery books do not furnish a very great variety of such recipes but it is possible to ring many changes upon the well-known jellies and blancmanges. For this reason it is well to have a good stock of packet jellies in the house so that you need never be at a loss if guests should turn up unexpectedly.

PINEAPPLE BLANCMANGE

Plantains pineapples fruits may be set in a jelly and if a little less than the usual amount of water is used and the mould set to cool in a nest of broken ice it will be ready quite quickly. You will find too that if you cut up some pineapple into "chunks," put sugar on it and leave it for an hour, the fruit may then be mixed with a cornflour milk mould, which will prove much more interesting than usual and a great favourite with the kiddies.

Frozen Sweets

AND HOW TO NAME THEM

There are definite classes of ices varying according to the ingredients and method of freezing and this list gives some idea of what is meant by the names given to these classes. Water ice: Fruit juice, sugar and water.

Sherbet: Water ice partially stiffened with gelatine or whites of egg.

Sorbet: Granite or Punch: A half-frozen water ice to which liqueurs are frequently added and occasionally white of egg. In a full course dinner this type of ice is served before the roast.

Franpe: A partly frozen ice. Mousse: A light soufflé type of mixture, containing whipped cream and white of egg, flavoured and frozen and served in a soufflé mould.

Parfaits: Cream or custard blended with yolks or whites of eggs.

Ice Cream: Cream or custard or a combination of both with fruit or other flavouring.

Sundaes: Ice cream with syrup, fruit, nuts and whipped cream.

Then there are the more elaborate ice puddings and bombes where two or three varieties of ice cream are frozen and moulded. Sometimes the mould is lined with one kind of ice and another richer mixture blended with fruit or nuts placed inside; the whole is then frozen and unmoulded when required. Such dishes require more skill in preparation than the ordinary ices, sundaes, etc., and are suitable for formal occasions.

Simple ices can be attractively served and decorated, and sundaes especially give scope for those with imagination and taste in decoration and blending unusual flavours. Pleasing glass can now be obtained cheaply and the attractiveness of all iced dishes is greatly enhanced if care be taken with the serving.

Fruit cocktails are a popular substitute for "hors d'oeuvres" and are especially tempting on hot days. They should always be served as cold as possible and can either be entirely nonalcoholic or flavoured with a little liquor according to personal taste.

PINEAPPLE FLAN

If you are fond of pastry, have a flan (or open pastry tart) made in the morning and for dinner fill it with pineapple cut in chunks, thickening the juice with a little gelatine so as to form a jelly. Blobs of whipped cream (or white of egg) and crystallised cherries turn this into a very special dinner sweet.

Marrow Toast

Take out the marrow from a large beef bone which has been boiled, and when it is cold put it into a saucepan with a little well-salted water and boil it for just a minute.

Now spread it on squares of hot buttered toast, breaking it with a fork, and bake it in the oven for five minutes, when the marrow should be melted.

Season with salt and cayenne pepper, and sprinkle if you like with chopped parsley, chives and a squeeze of lemon juice. It must be very hot when served.

Frozen Desserts

Creamy smooth and delicious in flavour, frozen desserts offer a wealth of variety. Prepare them in the mechanical refrigerator or in freezer and enjoy their tempting and satisfying goodness these first warm days. If you use an electrical refrigerator you will have to take special care to keep the mixture smooth and velvety, as mixtures frozen in this way may become granular unless certain precautions are taken. Junket tablets and powders, gelatine and syrups are an aid in creating a perfect texture. Try some of these recipes for a real culinary thrill.

MALT-COCOA ICE CREAM

1 tsp. gelatine
1 cup cold water
1 cup hot water
1 cup condensed milk
1 cup malt cocoa
2 tsp. sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
1 pint heavy cream
2 cup ground walnuts
Add the gelatine to the cold water and let stand for 5 minutes. Add the hot water and stir till dissolved. Add the condensed milk sugar and vanilla. Pour on the malt-cocoa and beat well. Add the vanilla and nuts. Pour into tray of mechanical refrigerator. Let stand for at least 12 hours. 24 hours is better.

BANANA ICE CREAM

1 cup evaporated milk
1 tsp. gelatine
2 tsp. cold water
12 cups banana pulp
1 cup confectioner's sugar
1 cup maraschino cherries
2 tsp. lemon juice
1 egg white
Scald evaporated milk over hot water. Soak gelatine in cold water 5 minutes and dissolve in scalded milk. Chill. Combine banana pulp, sugar, chopped cherries and 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Chill. Add 1 teaspoon juice to chilled milk and whip. Whip egg white. Fold whipped egg white and milk into the banana mixture. Pour into refrigerator pan and freeze. Remove from the refrigerator once during the freezing and scrape the mixture from the bottom and sides of the pan, beat and return to freezing.

VANILLA ICE CREAM

2 cups milk
1 tsp. corn starch
2 egg yolks
1 cup sugar
1 cup corn syrup
1 tsp. salt
1 cup rich cream
2 egg whites
1 tsp. vanilla
Make a paste of a little of the milk and the cornstarch, then add to the rest of milk, which has been scalded, and cook till thickened, stirring constantly. Beat the egg yolks, add the sugar, corn syrup and salt and mix well. Add the hot milk gradually to the egg mixture, then return to the top of the double boiler and cook like custard, till thickened. Add vanilla. Chill in the refrigerator tray until just beginning to freeze around the sides, then remove and beat until light. Whip the cream and fold into beaten egg whites. Then carefully fold the chilled custard into the mixture and return to the freezing tray. Stir once or twice during freezing process.

BUTTERSCOTCH SAUCE
1 egg yolk
1 tsp. water
1 tsp. butter
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup corn syrup
Beat egg yolk slightly. Add remaining ingredients and cook over hot water, stirring till a thick syrup is formed. Beat well before using. Serve over vanilla ice cream. You may vary the ice cream recipe given above by using 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted, and mixed with the milk and cornstarch.

CUCUMBER CUPS

Cucumber cups, steamed, coated with flour, egg and bread-crumbs, and fried, make excellent receptacles for green peas—plain or in a puree—when you want to serve a combination of two or more vegetables in an unusually attractive manner.

When NERVES GO WRONG

FEAR of eventful results—misfortunes—disasters—bad news—reverses—casualties—accidents, etc., play havoc with the nervous system because the emotions seem to overpower the reasoning faculties. When nerves go wrong, physical well-being suffers. It is evidence with headaches—nerviness—conditions of irritability—sleeplessness, etc. 'ASPRO' is the remedy. You should have it on hand ready for any emergency. 'ASPRO' soothes and steadies the nerves immediately. You don't have long to wait for relief. 'ASPRO' dispels nerve pains. It relieves the most violent headaches in from 10 minutes. 'ASPRO' changes sleepless nights into restful sleep. It removes the cause of numerous complaints because, after ingestion in the system, 'ASPRO' is a solvent of Uric Acid, a powerful germicide, an internal antiseptic, anti-periodic, antipyretic, and anti-fermentative. 'ASPRO' is pure medicine in tablet form that can be taken anywhere, at any time. It contains no dangerous drugs and there are no injurious after effects. Always Remember 'ASPRO' does not harm the heart.

'ASPRO'

WILL NOT FAIL YOU

HOW TO GIVE 'ASPRO' TO CHILDREN

Two simple methods of giving 'ASPRO' to the kiddies are: (a) with a little milk, or (b) break the tablet up and administer in a teaspoonful of jam. The dosage is: Children 2 to 6 years, 1 tablet; 6 to 14 years, 1 tablet; 14 to 18 years, 1½ tablets. 'ASPRO' like any other medicine should not be given to babies under 3 years of age without medical advice.

Why 'ASPRO' Has a Universal Sale

The one big reason why 'ASPRO' has a universal sale is because it has a universal use. It helps all from children to parents. It relieves all kinds of aches and pains. It is the quickest finisher of colds and influenza ever discovered. It relieves rheumatism in one night, and even many a good tooth if it is taken for toothache. You don't even have to lay up to take 'ASPRO'. You can take it in trains, trains, cars, offices, at home, anywhere, everywhere, with quick results—it is the same.

Try 'ASPRO' for

Headache	Temperature
Rheumatism	Malaria
Neuritis	Dengue
Sleeplessness	Sciatica
Toothache	Gout
Earache	Lumbago
Neuralgia	Sore Throat
Colds	Asthma
Influenza	Hay Fever
Feverishness	Irritability
Periodical Pains Peculiar to Women
Alcoholic After-Effects

The PURITY of 'ASPRO'

The purity of 'ASPRO' conforms to the standard laid down by the British Pharmacopoeia—the guiding authority of the Medical Profession. With 'ASPRO' there is no Free Salicylic Acid, therefore, it does not harm the heart, or have any injurious after-effects, such as palpitation, nausea, digestive or other troubles. Safeguard your health and heart by always insisting on 'ASPRO'.

FIRST AID FOR MOTHERS

Most children are subject to Toothache, Earache, Colds and sudden bursts of Temperature. 'ASPRO' can be safely given to children so affected. It will soothe the pain away and quickly reduce Temperature.

SCIENCE PROTECTS YOU AGAINST DANGEROUS DRUGS

'ASPRO' Does Not Harm the Heart

In appearance 'ASPRO' is merely a white tablet, yet how few realise the scientific investigations—the laboratory experimental work involved by analysts and chemists to produce 'ASPRO' free from the development of hydrolysis and Free Salicylic Acid which is so harmful to the human system. Don't meddle with dangerous drugs. You take no chances when you use 'ASPRO'. 'ASPRO' is the safe, sure, certain tablet. It does not harm the heart or cause stomach troubles. Furthermore, it does not produce any injurious after-effects.

Nutty Recipes

Salted Almonds

Remove the outer shell and pour boiling water over the nuts, then drain. Remove skins. Melt a little butter in a pan and stir in the nuts until all are well coated with butter. Salt them well and leave in a hot oven until nicely browned.

Onions Stuffed with Nuts

Remove the centre of one or two large onions. Cook together five minutes.

2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1 tablespoon breadcrumbs, 5 tablespoons chopped nuts. Season with salt and then add 1 beaten egg. Fill the onions with the mixture and fry lightly in butter until they are brown. Serve with gravy made with flour, butter, a little water, and seasoned with a little lemon juice.

Potato Nut Balls

Take 2 cups hot mashed potatoes seasoned with salt and pepper, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 finely chopped slice of onion, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley. Shape into balls and roll in coarsely chopped nuts. Place on a buttered baking dish and bake for 15 minutes until nicely browned. Serve with a white sauce flavoured with onion into which chopped nuts have been stirred.

Cold Meat Glaze

Any meat which would be served cold may be used for this. Soften 1 tablespoon of gelatin in 2 tablespoons of cold water for each cup of meat stock or liquid. As the gelatin begins to harden, cover the meat quickly with it and garnish with parsley and green peppers. Set in a cool place until ready to serve.

PUDDINGS

The British Institution of the pudding tends to grow less solid as time goes on, but there is still a demand for puddings, which is not always met satisfactorily notwithstanding the many recipes. The truth is that it is easy to forget a dish which may be a useful standby, and it is a good plan to have a long list of satisfactory puddings for lunch or dinner, to which reference may be made of trouble. There are apt to be orgies of the same pudding, such as, for instance, as-batter in some form or other, of which it is easy to grow tired. Baked batter and boiled batter and even pancakes—which are much the same thing—do not suffice for ever. Batter should be interspersed with fruit puddings, such as, for instance as-fried's omelet or apple amber or apple Charlotte. These in their turn do not need overdoing.

Strong differences may be made between baked and boiled puddings or between puddings and pastry. Pastry itself may be of different kinds—the light, feathery pastry which will accommodate even mince-meat or the rather more full-bodied pastry which serves at a dinner of only two courses. The omelet sweet occasionally and it must never be 'eggy'. There are all sorts of fritters which have the advantage of being made quickly. The various castle puddings come back to a simple prescription of the weight of an egg in everything and no milk. These can also be varied with sauce or jam. There are the fluffy puddings—white of egg introduced into what is really apple sauce or into plum. There are the puddings made with bread and bread-crumbs—apple Charlotte apricot pudding, and so forth. But puddings more than anything need a card index, so that their names may be remembered and there may be plenty of choice for either lunch or dinner.

LAWYER'S CLERK CHARGED

"A Lot Of This Dirty Work"

Singapore, May 7.
A Solicitor's clerk and his alleged accomplice confederate were accused of a simple but well-conceived fraud, in the third magistrate's court before Mr. J. M. Bran-der on Saturday.
The accused were, Sham Sundar
Rai and Ram Dahan. The former was charged with attempting cheating by personating and the latter with abetment of the offence.
Both pleaded guilty.
Detective-Inspector Judge, investigating officer, told the court that the complainant was a Chartered Bank watchman named Vindyachal, while the first accused was a clerk to Mr. Shanmugam, a local solicitor, and the other man was a driver in the Singapore Traction Co.
Ram Dahan, the inspector proceeded, harboured a grudge against the watchman and approached the solicitor's clerk to get a false civil judgment for $652 against the watchman, who he had been informed, had obtained leave.
The solicitor's clerk took out a summons against Vindyachal accordingly, and accompanied the summons server to have it served.
But he took the server to Ram
Dahan's house where Ram Dahan
posed as Vindyachal and acknowledged the summons.
Subsequently, when the summons case was called out in court,
Vindyachal naturally did not appear to answer it as he did not know of the summons, and judgment was issued against him.
It was only after this that Vindyachal came to know of the occurrence. He made a report to the police.
"The idea of the whole scheme," Inspector Judge said, "was that once Vindyachal left for India
these men would have taken proceedings against his property here.
I arrested the two accused yesterday; there has been a lot to this dirty work going on, and I ask your worship to take a serious view of the case."
The magistrate postponed sentence on the men until May 9, to await the arrival of their records from the Registrar of Criminals.

SEQUEL TO ARMED ROBBER ARRESTS

Rickshaw and Bicycle
Gang Activities

Shanghai May 10.
Arms identification work and confrontation of prisoners with complainants in various cases has led to the discovery, it is alleged, that three gangsters captured by the French Police a week ago were concerned in the killing of two Public Safety Bureau detectives, an attempted murder, and a running gun-fight in which one of the bandit party was killed.
The trio were taken by a Police patrol at the corner of Rues Marco Polo and Wagner when they were on their way to commit an armed robbery, it is said, at Siccawei.
Examination of the prisoners led to an exposure of their methods.
One of the gang would pull a rickshaw in which the gang's guns would be carried in the box under the seat; another would ride a bicycle and scout around to make sure that no policemen were around; the third would walk casually along the pavement until the time was ripe, when he would take over the pistols.
When arrested there were two pistols in the rickshaw, holding 30 rounds of ammunition between them. These guns have been identified by the French Police as having been used in two cases of murder and attempted murder.
Confrontation.
Complainants in various armed robbery cases in the French Concession have been brought before the three gangsters by the Police during the past week, and identification is alleged to have been made in four instances.
The pistols found in the gang's rickshaw were "bullet-printed"
and the bullet and cartridge case photographs compared with those in the Police records. One of the pistols was found to be that used in an attempted murder at Changtsapang village, in the International Settlement, at 9 p.m. on February 12, and accordingly the victim of the attack, now recovered from his wounds, was brought along to an identification parade; he recognised one of the trio.

A MIGHTY SAGA OF BRITISH HEROISM!

MADAM BUTTERFLY'S TROUBLES

Poor "Madam Butterfly" is in trouble again. This time it is a Maryland law which forbids the "Star-Spangled Banner" being played except in its entirety.

The Metropolitan Opera Company, from New York, had arranged to perform "Butterfly" in Baltimore this week. Then someone pointed out that it was illegal, as one of the leading themes—identified with the hero, Lt. Pinkerton of the United States navy—is a few salient bars from the American national hymn.

I remember some years ago a protest against the same opera from a Japanese Consul somewhere on the West Coast. His objection was that one of the Japanese tunes in "Butterfly" was of an immoral nature.

Puccini's most popular opera has also from time to time been criticised as likely to bring the American navy into undesired odium.

BEST PERFORMANCES OF 1933

1. Jean Harlow (in "Dinner at Eight"); 2. Warner Baxter (in "42nd Street"); 3. Katharine Hepburn (in "Morning Glory"); 4. Diana Wynyard (in "Cavalcade"); 5. Paul Muni (in "Fugitive"); 6. Conrad Veidt (in "I Was a Spy"); 7. Alice Brady (in "Ring Up the Curtain"); 8. Claudette Colbert (in "Three-Cornered Moon"); 9. Gary Cooper (in "One Sunday Afternoon"); and 10. Lee Tracy (in "Blonde Bombshell").

Jean Harlow has been the real surprise of 1933. She started her movie career with an incredibly crude performance in "Hell's Angels" more than two years ago. She was, if you remember, the original platinum blonde; she had curves.

In fact, she had everything an actress needs except a talent for acting. 1932 revealed nothing to alter that view.

Her life seemed just one long succession of front page stories.

How Styles Are Stolen

Intrigue as daring and exciting as international espionage but with more practical rewards to those who participate in the game, lies behind the importation of exclusive gown models from the glamorous ateliers of famous Paris dressmakers. The value of an exclusive importation lies in the fact that it is exclusive. Women who can afford to pay several hundred dollars for a gown naturally do not want to part with that much money for a design that they are apt to see on their cook on her day off.

Styles are as closely guarded as the mint until they are safely in hands of the purchaser. Modern business pirates engaged in the manufacture of women's clothes on a "wholesale" scale, maintain an army of spies and copyists in Paris who rush sketches of the very latest models to their employers. Cheaply made copies of designs by famous Parisian designers find a ready sale in thousands of stores in America, so it is well worth the while of style thieves to carry on their nefarious trade.

Intimate insight into this modern blue-collarism is given in "Fashions of 1934," William Powell's latest First National production which opens to-morrow at the Queen's Theatre.

Powell and Bette Davis are presented as a pair of amiable dissemblers who all but wreck the business of half a dozen of New York's largest importers by intercepting delivery of their latest Paris gowns, making sketches of them and selling the drawings to wholesale cloak and suit dealers for good prices.

When they are caught, they blandly offer their services to the importers, and are sent to Paris to steal designs at their source. The complications that result when they match their wits against clever Parisian detectives, hired to protect the famous couturiers, are extremely amusing, as well as enlightening, on modern business practices.

In addition to an amusing comedy romance there are special features, one of which is a mammoth style show with 25 pretty mannequins displaying the latest creations in women's gowns. There is also a show within a show as part of the story, an elaborate fan dance having been staged by Busby Berkeley.

Among the principals in the cast are Frank McHugh, Reginald Owen, Henry O'Neill, Hugh Herbert, Philip Reed and Gordon Westcott. William Dieterle directed the picture from an adaptation by Gene Markey, and Kathryn Scola. Music and lyrics are by Sammy Fain and Irving Kahal.

Then Metro-Goldwyn took her in hand, promptly gave her the thrill of a lifetime by casting her as the tough little dance hall hostess turned business man's wife in "Dinner at Eight."

She leapt at the chance, and proceeded to eclipse such seasoned and talented scene stealers as Marie Dressler, the Barrymores and Wally Beery.

As her personality and her ability to give lines the point the poor author intended grew, so her reputation for blonde frailty receded. It has been a remarkable metamorphosis. Pretty lady into actress.

"THE MYSTERY OF THE BLUE ROOM"

At The Alhambra Theatre

A bleak old castle with the wind howling round, a family ghost which has already laid three people low and a triangular love tangle, form the background of "The Secret of the Blue Room," which commenced a run at the Alhambra Theatre last night.

The film is an exciting one and as the picture proceeds so does the mystery of the "Blue Room," deeper. A family celebration of the daughter of the Castle's 21st birthday takes place, strangely enough somewhere near midnight when all ghosts are supposed to be on the prowl. The master of the Castle is strangely silent and prompted by one of his guests, reveals the grim tale of the three unsolved murders connected with the Blue Room.

One of the guests, madly in love with the daughter, plans wholesale murder in order to satisfy his demand for love, and cunningly suggests that the three friends of the girl, each spend a night in the "Faint Blue Room."

He is the first and strangely enough he disappears on the stroke of 1 o'clock. The mystery deepens when the second of the guests, a journalist who is also in love with the daughter of the house, falls a prey to the mysterious murderer, but when the official Police are called in the mystery arrives at a dramatic climax, a secret entrance to the Blue Room, solving the strange murders which take place in it.

Lionel Atwill as the master of the Castle is brilliantly cast and throughout one is led to believe that he is the culprit, while Paul Lukas as the ultimate hero is also well suited to his part.

Gloria Stuart, practically a newcomer to the screen is good and does not overact, while Onslow Stevens who takes a very important part shares the honours with Lionel Atwill.

WHO IS THE MURDERER?

Who killed Frank Faber? Who mercilessly did away with young Thomas Brandt on the very night he pledged his love to beautiful Irene Von Hellsdorf?

What dastardly fiend holds the throttle on the mechanism of death that spells destruction to each guest brave enough to sleep in a luxuriously-appointed bedroom called the Blue Room?

Lionel Atwill, Paul Lukas, Gloria Stuart, Onslow Stevens, Edward Arnold, William Janney, Russell Hopton, Elizabeth Patterson and Muriel Kirkland head the cast. Kurt Neumann directed the picture from the hair-raising Philip Hurlbut story of the same name.

The film on the whole is extraordinarily well directed and the moment "between murders" are not spent in idle waste as evidenced in most mystery films. The film is recommended to those in search of good entertainment.

"THE MATCH KING"

Powerful Acting At The King's

Powerful acting characterises "The Match King," featuring Warren William and Bill Damita, which will have its final showings at the Queen's Theatre to-day.

The picture was adapted from Einar Thorvaldson's novel which tells of a character that parallels that of a late match king whose financial machinations are well-known and which need no recapitulation here.

Both William and Miss Damita play their roles excellently, and as for the supporting cast, they too deserve honourable mention. The picture paints the most colossal financial swindle the world has ever known. It also reveals the startling and intimate romance of an overpowering genius, who ultimately ruins with utter unscrupulousness, women from every walk of life.

Other members of an imposing cast include Glenda Farrell, Harold Huber, Spencer Charters, John Wray, Murray Kinnell, Juliette Compton and Claire Dodd. The picture was directed by Howard Bretherton, with William Keighley assisting.

"GUILTY AS HELL"

Comedy-Murder Opens To-day

Twenty years of villainy haven't altered Ralph Ince.

The player who first became famous on the screen as the Abraham Lincoln, of several early Vitagraph pictures, and who a short time later turned his talents to film villainy, has the chief role in "Guilty as Hell," a comedy murder story starring Edmund Lowe and Victor McLaglen, now at the King's Theatre.

To-day, after a lifetime of unpleasant characterizations before the camera, he remains one of the best liked players in Hollywood. Ince went on the stage as a boy, joining Richard Mansfield and later appearing in "The College Widow." After several years before the footlights, he joined Vitagraph, played the role of Abraham Lincoln in a series of successes of the day, and then turned to directing.

Among recent pictures in which he has acted are "The Star Witness," "State's Attorney," "The Mouthpiece," and "The Lost Squadron."

In "Guilty as Hell" an adaptation of Daniel N. Rubin's successful Broadway play, Ince appears as a gambler engaged to procure a bit of evidence planted by a murderer in his victim's hands to throw suspicion on another man. The audience sees the crime committed, and knows the culprit, but Lowe and McLaglen, a police reporter and a detective, respectively, out to solve the crime, bungle through many amusing situations before they are successful.

THE LOST PATROL

Excellent Entertainment

Said to be daring different and intensely dramatic in theme RKO-Radio Pictures' "The Lost Patrol" presents Victor McLaglen, Boris Karloff, Wallace Ford, Reginald Denny and a strong supporting cast in a colourful story of gallantry and suffering on the desert of Mesopotamia.

The story, based on the famous novel by Philip MacDonald, centres about the plight of eleven men, members of a British cavalry detachment which is lost on the bleak sands without knowledge of its orders, its exact whereabouts, or its destination, when the commanding officer is killed by sniping Arabs.

Taking refuge in an oasis, the soldiers become virtual prisoners there when the Arab enemies slip up on the camp at night, kill a sentry and steal their horses. A ring of death about them, the men react in various ways to the strains of waiting for the inevitable doom. As the invisible enemy strikes again and again, and the ranks of the patrol grows even thinner, the drama is said to move swiftly to a tremendous climax.

John Ford, whose list of directorial successes is one of the most imposing of screen history, directed the production, all of which was filmed on a picturesque desert location in Arizona where actors and technicians suffered great hardships from the intense heat. The cast includes J.M. Kerrigan, Billy Bevens, Alan Hale, Brandon Hurst, Douglas Walton and Sammy Stein.

MAINTENANCE ORDER

Albert Edward Greenway, of No. 576 Nathan Road, second floor, was summoned before Mr. Wynne-Jones at Kowloon Magistracy yesterday to show cause why a provisional order under the Maintenance Order (Facilities Enforcement) Act, 1920, made against him in respect of Elizabeth Greenway, of No. 27 Priory Road, Hornsey, England, in the Court of Summary Jurisdiction at the Court House, Highgate, Middlesex, England, on February 23, 1934, should not be confirmed.

His Worship:—Mr. Greenway, you are called up this morning to show cause why this order should not be confirmed. I understand that you want a week to draw up a statement of accounts for the Court, and that you do not wish to oppose this order.

Defendant:—That is so, your Worship.

The case was accordingly remanded until next Wednesday.

HEAVY BAIL GRANTED

Before Mr. Macfadyen at Central Magistracy yesterday, Chiu Yick-sam, alias Chiu Sze-kei, was charged with falsifying the accounts of the Kwong Sui Yuen firm to the extent of $5,327.91 between March 8, 1931 and October 28, 1933, and, secondly, with stealing the money.

Mr. P. H. Sin, with the permission of the Hon. I.G.P., appeared for the prosecution, while Mr. C. Y. Kwan was for the defence.

Mr. Sin applied for a week's formal remand.

Mr. Kwan applied for bail.

Mr. Sin:—In regard to bail I am instructed to oppose bail or otherwise ask this Court for substantial bail. The first charge may be taken for committal and the charges are separate and distinct. A Government authorised accountant is going through the books and further charges are pending. We had difficulty in getting this man and it was only through the alertness of Sergeant Fowler that he was found in the early hours of the morning.

Mr. Kwan:—The first charge is an indictable misdemeanour and I am entitled to bail.

The Magistrate:—That is correct.

Mr. Sin:—This is a systematic fraud perpetrated by the accused, which I am going to prove.

The defendant was remanded for a week, bail being allowed at $6,000.

NO-RADIO LICENCE

Capt. O. H. Farrar was fined $8 by Mr. Hamilton at Central Magistracy yesterday, for being in possession of a wireless set without a licence at 5 Shouson Hill Road.

Mr. D. L. Strellett appearing for the defendant, who is away from the Colony, said that his client was captain of the steamer Hainling. He arrived in the Colony on April 20 and purchased the set which he asked to be sent to his house. He left on May 1 and returned to the Colony again on May 9. On his return he took out a licence. It was not as if defendant had purchased the set which he asked to be sent to his house. He left on May 1 and returned to the Colony again on May 9. On his return he took out a licence. It was not as if defendant had purchased the set and had enjoyed the use of it for several days before he left.

Mr. Hamilton remarked that accused should not have put the cart before the horse and got the licence before he purchased the set.

Detective Sergeant Ellis remarked that the Postmaster-General was not pressing the case.

Another Case.
R. Ishibashi was fined $8 in respect of a wireless set for which he had no licence at 21 Conduit Road.

Defendant stated that he was working in the Bank of Taiwan, and expected to be transferred in the middle of February. He wanted to dispose of the set, which was not in good order at the time. He admitted he had no licence. He took out a licence after the Police visit.

UNMANIFESTED CARGO

Charges of importing unmanifested cargo into the Colony were preferred against four Chinese before Mr. Hamilton at Central Magistracy yesterday.

Cheng Chi-ching, a passenger cook on board the steamer Hohol, was charged with having imported without manifest ten cases of eggs, and was fined $100 or two months' imprisonment.

Chu See, a fireman's cook on the same steamer, was charged with importing nine cases of eggs without manifest and was similarly fined, while Wong Sun, a seaman, on the same steamer, was

MANSLAUGHTER ALLEGED

Mak Pan, Lo Hin-choi, Shum Piu, and Mak Shi, alias Tau Pei-chai, were brought before Mr. Macfadyen at Central Magistracy yesterday, charged with the manslaughter of Siu Tong, alias Pun Yee-chai, 20, unlicensed hawker, at Fank Lane on the night of May 10. The first three defendants were stated to be coolies in the Sanitary Department while the fourth defendant was described as a street coolie.

On the application of Detective Sergeant Allen, all the accused were remanded for one week.

It will be recalled that the victim was brought to the Government Civil Hospital by two chair coolies who stated that about 9 p.m. on that night two Chinese approached them in Chung Wo Lane with another man whom they asked to be taken to the Hospital. Thinking that the man was unwell they complied. They had gone some distance when they found that the two men had disappeared, but they continued with their burden to the hospital.

MR. T. B. WILSON FINED

Mr. T. B. Wilson, local manager of the Dollar Line, was fined $18 by Mr. Wynne-Jones at Kowloon Magistracy yesterday for allowing two dogs out in the street on April 16 without muzzles.

P. C. Sapooran Singh stated that at 5.10 p.m. he saw two dogs at the corner of Prince Edward Road and Waterloo Road. He followed them and they ran into No. 215 Prince Edward Road. Two amahs were sitting inside the gate and he asked them to call for their master. One of them came back later and took him to the house, where he saw Mr. Wilson, who told him that the dogs had not been out, as they had been with him for about 15 minutes.

Questioned by Mr. Wilson, witness said he did not close the gate after he had entered, because it was originally open.

Witness denied that he had been prodding his baton through the gate.

Mr. Wilson said he felt that the police constable should have closed the gate after him in order to protect the public from rabid dogs.

His Worship agreed that in common courtesy the constable should have closed the gate after him, and instructed Sub-Inspector Maier, who was in Court, to tell the constables to do so in future. In this

TRAGIC DEATH OF MRS. HANNAH SCOTT

VERDICT OF DEATH BY MISADVENTURE RETURNED

Mr. E. Mitford Exonerated From Blame

"We find that Mrs. Hannah Scott met her death by misadventure." This, in part, was the verdict returned by the jury empanelled at Central Magistracy yesterday to enquire into the death of Mrs. Hannah Scott, an American subject, aged 33, who was killed at the junction of Johnston Road and Arsenal Street on the night of April 5 as a result of being thrown from a side-car attached to the motor-cycle driven by Mr. Mitford.

Mr. E. W. Hamilton sat as Coroner and the jury empanelled were Messrs. L. J. Stevenson (foreman) F. Ortlepp and A. M. D'Eca.

Mr. J. M. d'Almada Remedios watched the proceedings on behalf of Mr. E. Mitford, and Mr. E. C. Lee held a watching brief for the relatives of the deceased.

The full verdict of the jury was: "We find that the evidence produced in this case proves amply that the accident was caused due to the punctured tyre in turning the corner, together with the peculiar effect in this particular combination in making the turn of the corner. We also agree that no blame can be attached in the manner in which the machine was driven by Mr. Mitford. We find that Mrs. Hannah Scott met her death by Misadventure and sympathise with the relatives."

After having been cautioned by the Coroner that he was not obliged to answer any questions that might incriminate him, Mr. Eric Mitford, the driver of the motor-cycle stated that he was employed at the Hongkong Tramways, Ltd. as an assistant engineer.

He had known the deceased for about four months and during that time had been out with her on four occasions.

The Coroner: Were you on terms of reasonable familiarity with her?

Mr. Mitford: We were on friendly terms.

Continuing Mr. Mitford said that the combination and side-car (a Harley-Davidson) were the property of the Hongkong Tramways, Ltd. but he was allowed to use it regularly. He had a motor licence ever since he came to the Colony three years ago, and had been driving the combination on and off during that time. Before that he had thirteen years' experience in driving.

The machine was overhauled about nine months ago, and he had noticed peculiarities when turning a corner. Apart from that unfortunate accident, however, it had never overturned before.

He had never driven Mrs. Scott in that cycle except on that fateful occasion. He had driven round the corner where the accident occurred practically every day for months and usually with persons in the side-car.

On the day of the accident, April 5, he had been at work in the office from 9 o'clock in the morning till afternoon. He had left at 4 p.m. at the Engineers' and Shipbuilders' Institute and had a couple of drinks before that but not afterwards. He went to work again at about 1.45 p.m. till about 5 p.m., and then returned to the Institute at about 5.30. At the Institute he had a talk with several friends and attended to his committee duties.

case, somebody was responsible for leaving the gate open originally.

Defendant said his servants told him that the dogs were not out in the street.

His Worship said he would like to warn defendant against taking the word of the servants too freely. The servants in this case had told defendant that the Indian constable had been prodding his baton through the gate, but his Worship himself had visited the house and had seen for himself that it was impossible to prod the baton through.

Mrs. Reeve, wife of Cpl. Reeve, S. W. B. of Mount Austin Barracks, was cautioned by Mr. Macfadyen at Central Magistracy yesterday for having a dog without a licence, and fined $5 for allowing it abroad unmuzzled. Defendant stated she renewed the licence when it was brought to her notice by the police officer. Sergeant Cordeaux said the dog bit the child of Sergeant Varty of the same Regiment.

A Skid And Then.....
At 8 p.m. he was joined by Mrs. Scott, who told him that she already had dinner. He had no dinner that night but ate several cakes brought by Mrs. Scott. During that time he had four whisky sodas, but was perfectly sober.

He took Mrs. Scott home about 10.30 p.m. and drove at about 15 to 20 miles per hour along Queen's Road. In turning the corner at Arsenal Street the weight of the machine shifted more on the left hand turn than on the right hand turn. The road was dry, and he did not talk to Mrs. Scott as the positions of the cycle and the side-car made conversation difficult. He was going 15 miles an hour when turning the corner. Just before the accident, the cycle skidded and then overturned completely. He was thrown clear on his back on the roadway. When he picked himself up, he saw two Naval ratings and others were lifting up the overturned cycle. Mrs. Scott who was pinned inside the side-car, was bleeding and unconscious. He took her to the Government Civil Hospital in a China Motor-bus lorry which happened to be there.

In the hospital he had a talk with Dr. D. J. Valentine who invited him to his room to have a wash as he was covered with blood.

He later found that the tyre of the side-car was punctured. It was in good order when he started from the Engineers' Institute. He put the accident down to the sudden drop and the extra drag caused by the flapping of the tyre.

Mrs. Scott, he understood, was a widow and he knew her well. He did not know anything about her financial affairs. He was not engaged to her. They were just friends.

Perfectly Sober
The Court then adjourned for the jury and the Coroner to view the combination which was in the police compound. After this, Sergeant T. McInnis gave evidence. He said that on the night in question he was on patrol duty. At the junction of Lockhart Road and Johnstone Road he saw a crowd of Europeans and Chinese collected around a motor cycle combination No. 989. He examined the roadway and saw a rubber mark which started from Arsenal Street and extended to about five paces. There was also a further mark, unlike the other one, and was apparently caused by an iron wheel. At the end of the mark, which was at the tram track there were pools of blood. This mark was later found to be nine feet long. The two marks formed a semi-circle as if a vehicle had turned the corner. The rubber mark appeared to him to be turning the corner on a flat tyre. In the cover of which was found a boot-protector. He later examined the tyre and found there was a rip in the tube and a puncture about a foot from it.

He repaired the side-car and on April 9 took the combination for a trial round the corner with Sergeant Freyer. He turned the corner at a speed of 20 miles an hour. Comparing with other cycles he had driven, this machine seemed to have an inclination to drag on the left. Fifteen to eighteen miles an hour would be a safe speed to take the corner.

He accompanied Sergeant McInnis in the trial of the combination and was not comfortable when turning the corner as the cycle seemed to go over the side-car. After the Coroner had briefly summed up, the jury retired for ten minutes after which they delivered the verdict stated above.

In concurring with the verdict, the Coroner associated himself with the jury's remarks of sympathy.

LATEST ON GAS WORKS DISASTER

Mr. Aw Boon-Haw's Good Work

A further discovery was made among the gutted ruins of Clarence Terrace yesterday, the bones of an adult male being found beneath much debris in No. 2, the end house.

This brings the death toll up to 35, 10 bodies having been recovered from the ruins, five were taken to the Mortuary and 20 persons died in hospital.

All yesterday a search was made in the four remaining gutted premises but without result, and it now appears certain that the destruction of these four houses had not been accompanied by any loss of life.

There is no trace of the whereabouts of the 15 listed missing persons, and it is thought that the persons if alive, are purposely keeping away from the scene of the disaster. An impulse to remain away after an unfortunate escape is not uncommon among Chinese, and the Police believe that eventually they will report themselves.

There were no further deaths at the Government Civil Hospital at a late hour last night. There are, however, two critical cases, a male and female, who are not expected to pull through the night.

Gasometer Examined
A minute examination of the condition of the gasometer has been made, and the Government Surveyor was yesterday seen taking photographs of the damaged or burnt-out plates, etc., to be used at the forthcoming inquiry.

The special jury empanelled to inquire into the disaster, consisting of Messrs. P. Tester (foreman), L. Dunbar, and D. Drummond, accompanied by Mr. E. W. Hamilton, the First Police Magistrate and Mr. P. Grant, Assistant Superintendent of Police, yesterday made an inspection of the site.

The actual date of the inquiry has not yet been made known, as statements from witnesses and other facts collected will occupy at least a fortnight.

Mr. Aw Boon-haw, the well known Malayan multi-millionaire and Tiger Balm King, who is at present in the Colony, is making every effort to get into touch with the needy, and yesterday sent a representative of his to the scene of the disaster in the hope of securing contact with those needing assistance. Notices have been posted in the streets in the vicinity informing the needy that on proof from the principal tenant or landlord, that they were residents of the houses affected, they will each be given $20 on personal application to 26 Bonham Strand East.

Mr. Aw Boon-haw visited the scene yesterday and made direct payment to the sufferers.

Macao's Sympathy

The following telegram from His Excellency the Governor of Macao has been received by His Excellency the Governor:—

"Meu nome e Colonia apresso Vossa Excelencia e Colonia Hong Kong expressao profundo sentimento pelo desastre explosao gasometro." His Excellency replied:—

"The Colony of Hong Kong and myself deeply appreciate Your Excellency's message conveying the sympathy of the Colony of Macao in yesterday's tragic explosion."

NEW FIRE BOX WANTED

For 50-Year-Old Engine!

It cannot often happen that a manufacturer of machinery is asked to supply replacements or parts for products which have been in service for practically 60 years. This actually happened, however, in the case of a Fowler steam locomotive which had been in continuous work in Egypt for 58 years the satisfied operators placing an order for a new firebox as the engine was still in sufficiently good condition to give another few years' work. That these products bear a high reputation for sound construction and long working life is evident from the fact that in the case of a number of repeat orders placed with the Leeds firm, several customers have asked that the locomotives should be exactly similar in design and detail to those supplied as long as 40 years previously.

The manufacture of locomotives for many purposes was commenced by this concern in the middle of last century, but with the rapid increase in the demand for steam cable ploughing tackle, the production of large main line locomotives was deliberately discontinued, and it was decided to concentrate on small type and narrow gauge locos for Overseas. Thus, the firm supplied all the machinery to literally thousands of estates, both for the cultivation of the soil and the transport of the crop including locomotives, wagons, rails, sleepers etc., complete.

During the past 10 years the Diesel engine has made great strides for locomotive work. Fuel costs are very low, the efficiency at slow engine speeds is high and the type is generally more suitable for railway work than other types of internal combustion engine. The success attained with Fowler Diesel locomotives is largely due to experience gained during the last 24 years in the manufacture of a wide range of other types of machinery fitted with internal combustion engines, developing up to 225 h.p., and incorporating clutches and transmission gear similar in design to those subsequently fitted in the Diesel locomotives. The Diesel engines are specially designed for heavy duty and are fitted in other types of machinery, including the "Gyrotiller" rotary plough, which requires an engine that will stand up to continuous full load work, which is much more exacting than the heaviest locomotive haulage.

To, So Chor Sang, Lo Lok Far and many others.

The exhibits comprised (a) Buddhist Relics of historical interest, (b) Rare Buddhist "Sutras" (Canonical Books) and sacred scriptures, (c) Rare Buddhist Works of Art with photographs, (d) Buddhist sculptures and engravings, and, (e), Paintings by famous monks.

Among the most exhibits was the big bronze Buddha, weighing over 300 piculs, formerly in the possession of the monks of the Kwong How Monastery of Canton, and the small natural stone, containing the image resembling "A Retired Genius." There was also a big bronze incense burner of four tiers, dating from the Sung Dynasty.

The exhibits occupied a big hall of the ground floor and four large rooms of the first floor. On the ground floor, was also a dining room reserved for those who wish to partake of vegetarian dishes. Many Buddhist works of art and a very large number of ancient Buddhas and Goddesses of Mercy made of bronze, jade and stone belonging to private collectors, were also on exhibition.

The Exhibition will continue for seven days from Wednesday 16th to Tuesday 22nd May 1934, inclusive, and will be open to the public from 3 p.m. to 9 p.m. each day.

All are welcome, and there will be no charge for admittance.

BRITISH EMPIRE CANCER CAMPAIGN

DRIVE FOR FUNDS TO BE MADE LOCALLY

Appeal To The Public For Unstinted Support

In connection with the British Empire Cancer Campaign, a street collection will be held on May 23, when it is hoped that the public will respond to this very urgent appeal for funds.

The enormous work done by those concerned is well-known and needs no recapitulation here, but we publish two letters which should give an idea of the great need for funds to enable the fight against the dread disease to go on unhampered. In addition to the street collection, a concert is being organized by Mr. Alfred Morris, Commissioner of the St. John Ambulance Brigade while broadcast talks will be given by Dr. Montgomery and Dr. Arthur Woo. We make this appeal to the public of Hong Kong to support the campaign as generously as possible, for quite apart from the research work, there is prevalent in the Colony, much of the disease especially amongst the poorer classes and any benefits derived from the drive would directly concern us here.

145 Piccadilly, W.I.

Dear Lord Reading.—It is with great satisfaction that I have learned that the scheme suggested by me at the Annual General Meeting of the British Empire Cancer Campaign at the House of Lords in July is about to be carried into practical operation on Empire Day, May 24th.

To all those who have the responsibility of presiding over Municipal and Administrative Authorities I wish to commend the view that every assistance should be afforded to the efforts that are being made by the British Empire Cancer Campaign to organise a financial Appeal on Empire Day for the purpose of securing adequate funds to enable the great and unrelenting fight against the Cancer scourge to be continued until a triumphant success is assured.

I shall be grateful for any help that can be given to this Empire Day effort.

Yours sincerely

(sd) ALBERT,

President

British Empire Cancer

Campaign.

The Marquis of Reading, P.C.

London, Nov. 29, 1933.
His Excellency Sir William Peel,
K.C.M.G., K.B.E.

Hong Kong, China.

Sir,—I am directed by the Grand Council of the British Empire Cancer Campaign to approach you on the following matter.

You will recall in 1923 the British Red Cross Society were carrying out the Appeal for funds on behalf of the British Empire Cancer Campaign. Since then the Campaign has developed in a way far beyond the original expectations of its founders, and it has now become an Empire-wide Organisation with Branches in the British Dominions.

The very definite advances which have been made in research into the causes and cure of cancer will be seen from the enclosed Preiels of "Proceedings at the Cardiff for duty with the Reserve Fleet at the Nore, last served as Commander (D) in the Portsmouth Reserve in 1932-33. During the War he was a lieutenant of the cruiser Lancaster, second-in-command of the destroyer Mastiff, and in command of torpedo-boat No. 4 and the destroyers Foxhound and Rosalind. At the time of his promotion to commander in June, 1927, he was in command of the destroyer Wanderer in China. In 1930-32 he commanded the sloop Hastings and Bideford in the Persian Gulf.

BEAUFORT AND WHARTON
TESTIMONIALS

The Beaufort and Wharton Testimonials, which are open to midshipmen passing the best examination of their year in navigation and pilotage for the rank of Lieutenant, have been awarded for 1933 to Lieutenant E. F. S. Back, R.N., of H.M.S. Exeter, South America Station. This officer entered Dartmouth as a cadet in September, 1925, and went to sea as a cadet in the Barham in May, 1929. A year later he joined the cruiser Berwick for service in China, where he served until promoted acting sub-lieutenant in the spring of 1932. He took "first" in all subjects in his examinations for Lieutenant.

Annual General Meeting of the Campaign held in July last. At this Meeting our President, H.R.H. The Duke of York made a suggestion that on Empire Day, May 24th, 1934, an Appeal be launched throughout the Empire for the funds of the British Empire Cancer Campaign.

The Executive Committee of the Campaign have decided that the suggestion of His Royal Highness shall be carried out and further, I have been instructed to communicate with all British Communities Overseas to invite the British Residents to participate in this great appeal, and so associate themselves with their compatriots in this attack on cancer.

It is, of course, quite impossible for us to suggest a suitable form of Appeal to meet the situation in Hong Kong, but we shall be most grateful to you if you could call a Meeting to discuss ways and means. Perhaps the question of a social event could be considered, the proceeds of which could be devoted to the funds of the Campaign, and any sums received from now onwards would be credited to the Duke of York's List for Empire Day Appeal.

We do most sincerely trust that it will be possible for the British Community in Hong Kong to co-operate with this Campaign, and as H.R.H. The Duke of York so truly says in his letter attached:—

"The securing of adequate funds to enable the great and unrelenting fight against the cancer scourge to be continued until a triumphant success is assured."

We shall be most grateful to you for any help you can give us.

Yours faithfully,

(sd) E. J. C. CHAPMAN,

General Secretary to the British Empire Cancer

Campaign.

FIGHTING CANCER

The last annual general meeting of the British Empire Cancer Campaign was held at the House of Lords on July 10, 1933 when H.R.H. The Duke of York presided. Addressing the gathering, His Royal Highness remarked on the progress that had been made and said that this was due to the loyal support of the British public through gifts of money and to the devotion and efforts of the leaders of medicine, surgery and research. So far as the question of funds was concerned, His Royal Highness said that the more strenuous the efforts that are made in the research the greater must be the call for financial help and he felt sure that the public would see that the work is not hampered in any way by lack of funds. It may not be generally known that cancer is very prevalent in the Colony, especially amongst the poorer class Chinese. In the Government Civil Hospital alone, Dr. Montgomery treats from 10 to 15 cases every week. These are only the cases treated at the Government Civil Hospital. There must be a great many other cases treated privately while we have no doubt that even more cases are not brought before the notice of the medical profession owing to the fact that the unfortunate patients cannot afford anything in the way of fees or that they are too ignorant to apply to the proper authorities for free treatment. They either go back to the country and spend the rest of their lives in misery or consult a practitioner of Chinese medicine who has not the advantages the Western practitioner possesses in the way of science. Radium, for instance, is unknown to Chinese "healers" and yet the important part it plays in the cure of this dreaded disease cannot be too firmly stressed.

Proposing the adoption of the Cancer report, Sir William Wilcox, said:—

"The Cancer problem is so many sided, it embraces almost every branch of scientific endeavour and calls for increased knowledge and research in Biology, Chemistry, Physics, Physiology Pathology. Bacteriology and Bio-Chemistry before it can be solved. It is for this reason that there has and will be delay before complete success can be attained. In the summary of the report, the Chairman, Lord Reading, said:—

"Our knowledge of both the cause and treatment of cancer is increasing rapidly and great strides have been made since the inception of the Campaign. Research is now tending to be concentrated into very definite channels. As has been insisted upon in many previous reports there is not one cancer problem, but many, and each of these has to be attacked separately and followed to its legitimate conclusion. I am glad to report that several of these problems seem to be nearing a definite solution. The British Empire Cancer Campaign was started ten years ago with the object of discovering the cause and cure of cancer by encouraging and amplifying research and so making it possible to shorten the time before this disease, which now causes so much suffering and distress, can be brought under satisfactory control. In this effort the Campaign has been generously supported by the public financially ever since its inception, and by many of the wisest and most influential men in England, who have given freely of their time to serve on the committees which are responsible for all its activities. The work done in the last ten years has, we consider, more than justified these efforts. There is now very little overlapping of work, and cancer research in Great Britain is being carried out and is keeping all cancer research workers in close touch with each other as to the means by which the various problems are being tackled."

For many years research workers have been trying to find some means of increasing, or supplementing, the natural resistance to cancer which exists in the body, so that the tumour will be unable to continue its growth, or so as to render the individual altogether immune to cancer growth. An antiserum has been produced which, if injected into mice with natural cancer, meaning thereby cancer which has arisen spontaneously and not as the result of artificial means, causes the tumours to disappear and renders such mice apparently immune to further cancer growth. The results of using this antiserum have now reached a stage when it has been considered justifiable to test the effect of the serum on human cases of cancer. Naturally it has not been tried on cases in which it was considered that the estab-

JAPANESE SWIMMER'S FINE
EFFORT

China Has An Unhappy
Day

(Reuter's Olympic Service.)

Manila, May 16.
China enjoyed an unhappy day to-day, the Far Eastern contingent losing two major contests, while the Japanese hung up new records for both the Track and Swimming.

The Chinese Girls' swimming performance was the chief bright spot of the entire day, the Girls showing being splendid and their style drawing a big hand from an enthusiastic crowd.

Bautista, the Philippine collegiate pitching ace proved a terrible Nemesis to the Chinese team, hurling a no-hit no-run game in the second encounter of the baseball. The Chinese team was entirely unable to solve his offerings, while the Filipinos combed the Chinese pitcher at will.

Basketball Replay
The bright spot for China developed when the Committee decided not to allow the award in the Chinese and Philippine basketball game to go to the Philippines and there will be a replay on Sunday.

The Japanese defeated China by three sets to one at Volley Ball in the finest exhibition of the game given up to date. The splendid attack and defence of both sides kept the issue doubtful until the final whistle. The scores were 22-20, 25-25, 27-21, 15-21.

Both track and field records topped steadily in spite of the wet track, the Japanese leading, but the Philippines showing a very sturdy opposition throughout. China was not placed, except in the broad jump in which she came fourth.

NEW RECORDS SET
Amante (Philippines) set a new Discus record of 139 yds. 7 inches and 1/4.

Tanaka (Japan) made a record for the 1,500 metres in 4 minutes, 35 seconds.

Tajima made a record for Japan in the Broad Jump of 7-3 metres.

Toribio (Philippines) made a record in the high jump event of 6 foot 4 inches.

Trials made by Yoshioka (Japan) cracked both the 100 and 200 metre records, the former in 10.6 and the latter in 21.5 secs.

Murakami (Japan) and Casia (Philippines) tied in the trials of the 110 metres high hurdles in 15 secs. flat, both breaking the Far Eastern record.

The 400-metre low hurdles, which is a new event in the Philippines, was broken by one of the Filipino contestants in the record time of 53.4 secs.

lished methods of treatment by surgery or radium might result in a cure, but in those apparently hopeless cases where neither surgery nor radium seems to offer any hope, and only when the patients themselves consented to undergo the treatment. The results at present are too few to afford any real grounds for assuming that this antiserum will prove to be a substitute for the present methods of treating cancer, or that it will really be effective. All that can be said is the results so far have been encouraging and that at all events a temporary benefit has resulted in several of the cases treated. A great deal more work has still to be done before the treatment can be in any sense standardised or made available for general use. Much patient research into the best method of preparing the antiserum is still necessary and the best method of administering it has still to be discovered.

Scientists and doctors have and are devoting their lives to this fight against cancer. We read of their efforts and perhaps for a time feel grateful that there are men in this world who try as far as is humanly possible to rid us of this terrible disease. But it is not enough merely to feel grateful; we have to do our share, help as best we can, and the only way in which we, laymen, can do so is to give our best support to the drive for funds.

In the 400 metre trials, the Philippines led but the records were not broken. The Japanese took the finals of the broad jumping, Tajima winning with 7.3 metres.

Toribio of the Philippines jumped off the finals of the high jump with 6 feet 4 inches. In this event Wu Pi-hsien of China was placed fourth.

New Swimming Records
Records were also broken in the swimming events. Tayada of Japan winning the first heat of the 50 metres free style in 28-4/5 secs, which is a new record for the Far East and is only one second behind the World's record.

The entire field in the 200 metres' breast stroke event broke the Far Eastern record, Toyke of Japan leading in 2 mins. 45.4/5 secs.

The 400 metre free style was also broken by Shimada of Japan who led the field in 4 mins. 56.1/5 secs, three other Japanese also breaking the record.

Chinese Mermaids
The Chinese women made a clean sweep in the swimming events for ladies.

The 50 metre free style was won by Miss Yeung Sau-king in 36.9 secs. The 200 metre breast stroke was won by Miss Yeung Sau-king in 3 mins. 6-3/5 secs, the second and third being also Chinese.

In the 200 metre relay race, the Chinese ladies won easily in 2 mins. 41.7 secs, the team being composed of Lan Kwai-chang, Chan Woon-king, Loong Wing-han and Yeung Sau-king.

China Wins At Last
China crashed through in superb style in the final minutes of play to take a hard won Basket Ball contest from Japan 48-47.

Japan led almost to the final whistle after the Chinese had dominated the first half 23-19.

A minute before the finish, Y. T. Wang looped a long one from the side lines, providing a slender margin of victory. P. K. Tang, the high-point man for the Chinese scoring fifteen.

The game was bitterly and beautifully contested. Honours are about even, China supplying the necessary winning punch.

A ROUND OF PROTESTS

The entire Olympic scene in Manila is seething with discontent as a result of official actions as well as the inability of the Stadium.

Part of the Philippine delegation has staged a strike and the entire basketball team is missing temporarily as a result of alleged discourteous treatment to their families who were denied admittance. The dispute, it appears, has now been settled.

The Chinese delegation protested in last night's basketball game when, it is learned, the referee declared the contest forfeited to the Philippines because the Chinese refused to take the court after the game had been interrupted by heavy rain. This matter has been referred to the Committee, and is not yet decided until later.

The Chinese girls' volleyball team has protested their defeat at the hands of the Filipinos by alleging that the referee's decisions were unfair. The American-owned newspaper, the "Manila Bulletin," seems to think this protest is well-founded.

The Japanese also protested their defeat at the hands of the Chinese in the volleyball encounter, by alleging that there were too many substitutions by the latter.

The Japanese measured the field and all equipment and although expressing dissatisfaction they are willing to continue.

The truth is that the stadium was barely completed in time for the games and the committee are overloaded with details which they are unable to handle satisfactorily.

The crowds have been unexpectedly large, and the seating problems complicated with the un-

KING'S SILVER NEWS SUMMARY

Opportunity For Conference

London, May 16.
The possibility of an Empire Conference in London next year is being discussed in England.

The subject is broached by "The Times" this morning, in an article drawing attention to the fact that the Dominions, the Colonies and British Protectorates will all be represented in England next year at the celebrations in honour of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the King's accession to the Throne.

It is obviously an apt occasion for a round-table discussion on the varied problems of the Empire and Inter-Imperial unity.

"The Times" says there is a strong feeling that such a unique opportunity for Inter-Imperial consultation should not be lost.

CHARLES LAMB MEMORIAL

Literary societies are making tentative negotiations for a site at the Temple on which it is proposed to erect a memorial to mark the centenary of Charles Lamb's death, which falls on December 27 of this year. No more appropriate place could have been selected, for many times the plainstones of "the most elegant spot in the Metropolis"—Lamb's own description of the Temple—re-echoed his tread. It was from the cloistral calm of this oasis in the "commercial heart of London" that he obtained his first glimpses of daylight, and here he spent his boyhood, and early manhood. After his parents' death he returned to the place of his birth and set up house with his sister. Although he resided in other districts subsequently, Lamb found recreation and happiness in his declining years by meandering within the gates of the Temple. I understand that the memorial is likely to take the form of a seated

NANTUCKET LIGHTSHIP LOST IN FOG

Cut In Two By White Star Liner

London, May 15.
Wireless messages from the White Star liner, "Olympic", state that she collided with and sank Nantucket Lightship, while proceeding in a dense fog to New York.

The "Olympic" stood by to rescue the lightship's crew, which numbered eleven, but seven of them lost their lives, four being drowned and three others dying after being picked up.—British Wireless.

Olympic's Message.

New York, May 15.
"We have sunk the Nantucket Lightship and are standing by to pick up the crew."

Please inform all concerned that we have sunk the Nantucket Lightship and are standing by."

These two dramatic wireless flashes brought the first news of the tragedy 40 miles from the coast yesterday morning.

The impact was so terrific that the Nantucket sank before the crew even had time to lower a boat or send out an S.O.S.

The Olympic's boats picked up seven of the crew.

The liner, after exhaustive searches, continued her voyage, and was expected at New York at midnight. Two coastguard cutters were rushed to the scene, but were also unsuccessful in tracing the four missing members of the lightship's crew.

Capt. Hinks' Report.

Captain Hinks, Commander of the Olympic, reports that a few minutes before the crash the signals of the Nantucket's directional wireless beam became confused.

He ordered the ship's course to be altered 10 degrees. Shortly after that, the Nantucket was sighted dead ahead.

A survivor of the Nantucket, aboard the Olympic, stated that the lightship was cut in half and sank within 30 seconds. The men below had no chance to escape. The Olympic was seen only a minute before the collision.

The House of Commons member, the Rt. Hon. Sir A. Steel-Maitland, Bt., Mr. J. M. Keynes, the well-known economist, and M. Emil Franqui, the Belgian Ambassador to the United States were among the Olympic's passengers.

Sir A. Steel-Maitland told Reuters, by telephone that the passengers were hardly aware of the collision. There was not the slightest panic. The fog was so dense that they were unable to follow the search for the victims.—Reuters.

Vagary of Fog.

New York, May 16.
The Nantucket disaster is ascribed to vagary of fog deflecting the sound of the lightship's fog horn which appeared to the Olympic to have come from far off to starboard.—Reuters.

Wireless Beam Confusion.

New York, May 18.
The White Star liner Olympic captain's statement that the Nantucket's wireless directional beam became confused before the collision lends support to the theory held by the New York Department of Commerce that the lightship was the victim of her own beam.

It is pointed out that when the liner recently scraped the Nantucket's side, the liner's navigator was accurately following the beam's instructions, but could not alter course in time.—Reuters.

PARAGUAY AND BOLIVIA

Effort To Stop Hostilities

London, May 15.
Geneva message state that when the report of the League Commission, which investigated the war between Paraguay and Bolivia, comes before the League Council to-morrow, the Lord Privy Seal, Captain Anthony Eden, will make a further effort to persuade all Governments to agree upon an arms embargo.

The British initiative taken a year ago resulted in the signing of a declaration by members of the Council to undertake to prohibit the export of arms to Bolivia and Paraguay, subject in several cases to the co-operation of certain of the principal arms manufacturing countries. Further action was suspended, pending consideration of the proposal for ending hostilities, which led to the sending of a commission to Chaco.

As the Commission's report, published a few days ago, pointed out that the arms and material used in the scientific slaughter were not manufactured locally, but were supplied by American and European countries, the present moment is considered opportune for making another effort to apply an embargo.—British Wireless.

FUTURE OF THE SAAR

Preparations For Plebiscite

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Geneva, May 15.
Preparations for the Saar plebiscite began to take definite form on Tuesday with the League of Nations publication here of the report of its special committee appointed in January to examine the measures necessary for the forthcoming voting.

In its report, the committee takes the stand that according to the treaty of Versailles, governmental authority, also during the actual plebiscite, must be exercised by the present League of Nations Governing Commission.

A most detailed examination was given to the determination of qualified voters—those persons who at the time when the treaty was signed had resided within the Saar territory.

What is probably the most vital section of the report and the likeliest to stir up a controversy is that entitled, "The Evaluation of Election Returns." The committee is of the opinion that where the Treaty requires the voting to take place according to communities or districts, it means the method in which the election results is so evaluated that the voting in each community or district constitute an object of special computation.

The leader of the German Front in the Saar region, Pirro, who is heading the Saar delegation here, stressed in a statement to foreign Pressmen on Tuesday, that the immediate fixing of the voting day would not only be a great step toward reassurance of the Saar population but also of having a soothing effect on the neighbouring countries and refute the suspicions that the League of Nations is inclined to delay the plebiscite. Pirro, moreover, demanded that the League despatch a plebiscite committee at once to the Saar territory and proposed that a "Plebiscite Court" be set up to decide the five points regarding that voting must be given no penal powers. As a final point, Pirro emphasised that the importation of an international police force for the duration of the plebiscite would only be calculated to evoke unrest among the Saar population.—Transocean Kuo Min.

JAPAN TOO NERVOUS

Mr. Ariyoshi On Chinese Purchase Of Arms

Kobe, April 29.
Mr. Ariyoshi, the Minister to China, returned to Tokyo yesterday morning, and visited the Foreign Office in the afternoon to report to the Foreign Minister what transpired at his interviews with the leaders of the Nanking Government. Mr. Hirota explained the fundamental policy of the Government based on harmony and co-operation with the Powers, after which Mr. Ariyoshi laid his personal views on Japan's future policy towards China before the Minister.

In the course of an interview with the Press on the train, Mr. Ariyoshi said that the League's technical aid to China is evidently still at the stage of inquiry. One thing deserving careful attention in this connection is that the inflow of international capital into China through the League of Nations tends to result in the international control of China. It is not desirable for Japan that international capital, to the exclusion of the capital of Japan, who is not an active member of the League, should enter China. The entry of foreign aid into China individually and legitimately for the development of China's resources cannot, however, be helped.

A Little Too Nervous.
Mr. Ariyoshi further said that Japan seems to be a little too nervous about China's purchase of arms from other countries. The Nanking Government now mobilises 400,000 troops for the suppression of bandits, and so it requires a number of aeroplanes. If that Government purchases them, no strong objection can reasonably be raised. China is not blind to the actual state of things in the Far East, and must know well that she cannot go on relying on Britain and America permanently.

Mr. Ariyoshi is quoted by the Asahi as saying that the Chinese feeling towards Japan has considerably improved, and this is because China is now confronted with the necessity of re-examining her foreign policy. It is true Mr. Ariyoshi said, that the pro-Japanese attitude of the Nationalist Government is provoking some hostile comment from the Canton faction, but there can be no contending against the current of the times.

The unofficial declaration of policy by the Foreign Office on the 17th instant has excited Chinese opinion, but the attitude of the Nationalist Government towards it is, as will be seen by its announcement, which comparatively moderate, a fact which testifies to a better understanding of Japan's point of view on the part of Chinese authorities. Mr. Ariyoshi averred.—Japan Chronicle.

CLOUD BURST IN HOLY LAND

Twenty-Four Bodies Recovered

Jerusalem, May 16.
Twenty-four bodies, mostly aged people and infants, were recovered yesterday from the ruins of houses wrecked by a cloud-burst at Tiberias, on Monday, when an eight-foot wall of water carrying tons of stones and silt from the hillsides, crashed down on the town.

Walling mothers are still searching in the ruins of their homes for missing children. Many people were suffocated by sea mud.

The total of deaths is not yet known but it is feared that many were swept out to sea.

The Gordon Highlanders and the Palestine police are toiling to rescue the inhabitants and salvage property. The authorities are finding accommodation for the homeless, while the neighbouring Arab villages and Jewish settlements have sent lorriesloads of food and clothing.

Later, another cloud burst over Tiberias, shortly after the funeral of Monday's victims. It is feared that fresh casualties have occurred, including a number of children.—Reuters.

A RUSHING RIVER

London, May 16.
Another cloud-burst within 24 hours of the first one at Tiberias, Palestine yesterday, lasted for nearly half hour, and Tiberias was turned into a rushing river which carried away goods from houses and shops.

It is feared that it has caused further casualties, particularly among the children.

The population of the old town was evacuated to the high suburbs. Telegraphing in regard to Monday's cloud-burst, the High Commissioner stated that 19 bodies had been recovered, others are missing, fifteen people are in hospital, and many have been rendered homeless.

Much of the salvage work, which was promptly undertaken, was apparently undone by yesterday's deluge.

The Colonial Secretary Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, has sent a telegram of sympathy.—British Wireless.

MONGOLS AND MANCHUKUO

And Japan's Ambitious

Peiping, May 5.
While using every available means to incite the princes and nobles and chieftains in Inner Mongolia to sever their relations with China and throw in their lot with the puppet State of Manchukuo by offering feudalistic titles and other tempting baits, the Japanese have recently deprived a number of Mongol chiefs of their posts and ranks for rejecting their seditions offers.

A "Special Political" organ has been established in Eastern Mongolia by the Japanese for carrying out their intrigues for the annexation of Mongolia, with branches at Linhsi and other points, and an efficient wireless station has also been installed in spite of the protests of the Mongols, who are beginning to see the ambitious plots of the Japanese.

It is learned that a movement is now under fermentation by the Mongols to resist the invasion of the Japanese into their home land, while the Japanese are also accelerating their military preparations and are ready to employ armed force to attain their ultimate object. At the same time anti-Japanese volunteer corps are again displaying new activities in many regions and gaining steady influence, as the result of the sympathy of the people.—Asiatic.

BEVERLY HILLS KIDNAPPING

Snatching of Gettle is First Case Registered Since Lynching

Los Angeles, May 10.—William F. Gettle, 47, wealthy Beverly Hills retired businessman, was to-day kidnapped by two masked bandits.

The "snatch" was made on Gettle's Arcadia estate while a swimming party which he was giving was just breaking up.

Gettle and a guest, James P. Wolff, were loitering about on the grounds at the rear of the house when two men appeared on the scene, masked, with guns in their hands, and bound both men.

Wolff was left on the grounds and warned that "this is a kidnapping so don't give the alarm for an hour if you know what's good for you."

No demand for ransom had yet been made although police were expecting one at any moment.

The kidnapping attracted considerable interest inasmuch as it was the first California kidnapping since Brooke Hart, San Jose youth, was kidnapped in San Jose last December by John Holmes and Thomas H. Thurmond, who later killed the youngster.

The eyes of the world were focussed on California at that time because of the action of a huge mob which took law into its own hands.

Governor James "Sunny Jim" Rolph, Jr., of California, aroused ire throughout the nation by congratulating the "patriotic citizens" of San Jose for their part in the lynching, and boasting that California had given the rest of the Union a "lesson" in dealing with criminals.

Herbert Hoover, former president of the United States, joined in the wave of criticism of Rolph's outspoken approval, when he signed a statement with 25 other Palo Alto residents declaring Rolph's attitude a "humiliation and shame" to the State.

A San Jose grand jury, however, adjourned without asking for the identity of their "patriotic" fellow townsmen.

GOV. GEN. MURPHY Honours Participants In Far Eastern Games

Manila, May 12. Almost seven hundred guests, representing all communities of the city, were present yesterday afternoon at the brilliant reception and tea given by Governor General Frank Murphy at Malacanang palace in honour of the officials and athletes participating in the Tenth Far Eastern Championship Games, which begin here to-day. Due to illness Mrs. Marguerite Murphy Teahan was unable to attend the function nor will it be possible for her to come down to Manila from Baguio for the games.

The palace was artistically decorated with Philippine laurel and palms symbolic of the Olympic games. Garlands of laurel leaves were looped all along the wide staircase, hung from the ceiling and arches of the palace, and were twined around the pillars. Huge bouquets of pink oleander blossoms, pink and white cadena de amor, and calla lilies were features of the floral decorations.

The Constabulary Band played during the function.

A large number of ladies from the various communities of Manila circled through the reception halls entertaining the guests of honour, while the Governor General and his brother, Harold Murphy, were constantly surrounded by groups of autograph-seekers.

Mrs. G. P. Datema, Mrs. Atsushi Kimura, Mrs. Jorge Vargas, and Mrs. Albino Sy Cip presided at the serving tables which were attractively decorated with tuberoses and calla lilies.

In addition to the guests of honour, invitations were extended to the President of the Far Eastern Athletic Association, the supreme court, the department secretaries, the senate, the house of representatives, the mayor and municipal board, the consular corps, and the president and members of the P. A. A. F.

Members of the Malacanang staff and household who came down from Baguio for the reception were Governor General Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Murphy, Miss Eleanor Burroughs, Colonel Frederick W. Manley, Major Abraham Garinkel, Norman Hill and Edward Kemp. They plan to return to Baguio to-morrow.

A large crowd of members and guests are expected to be present this evening at the Saturday night dinner dance which has become a weekly attraction at the Manila Polo Club. A special dinner will be served and a collection of the newest dance hits from the States will be offered by the orchestra.

China Humbled At Baseball

Manila, May 14. China's doughty diamond warriors suffered their second defeat in the Tenth Far Eastern Games when Japan's mighty baseball contingent humbled them, 20-1, yesterday afternoon in the second day of the Olympic games.

Japan collected a total of 14 hits, chasing two Chinese pitchers to the showers, and committed three errors, while China garnered three hits and likewise committed three errors. Kikutani started on the mound for Japan and was replaced in the sixth frame by Takahashi after holding the Chinese scoreless and allowing only one hit. Takahashi pitched the remainder of the game and allowed one run and two hits, Eddie Chang, starting the pitching duties for China, was replaced in the seventh frame by H. Lee, after permitting Japan to chalk up 16 runs and collect 11 hits. Lee only lasted one inning, permitting the Japanese to dent the rubber thrice. B. Chang replaced him and pitched the remainder of the hit, allowing only two hits and one run.

Japan drew blood in the very first frame after China, batting first, was retired in order. They dented the rubber four times, repeated with a lone tally in the second and third cantos each, and blasted out five more in the fourth stanza. Japan seemed able to score at will and the game was reminiscent of Saturday's tussle between the Filipinos and the Chinese.

Not satisfied with the scoring as yet, Japan blasted out two more runs in the fifth inning, holding China scoreless all the way. However, in the sixth canto, China scored its lone run of the battle when Takahashi, going on the Matsui, corpulent left fielder for Japan, was the hero of the day, clouting out singles, a double and a triple, and accounted for two runs.

Saturday's Game.

In the opening day tussle, the Filipino Olympic diamond warriors mercilessly swamped the Chinese contingent 25-1 in a game that ended as darkness was falling, and the Chinese chalking up their lone run of the battle in the final frame.

It was about the crudest spectacle that has ever been displayed on a baseball diamond here in many a moon. The Chinese proved that they just did not know the game. Sending three of the Chinese pitchers to the showers, Cap Villars boys had a veritable Roman holiday on the opening day of the games. Practically every member of the Philippine baseball aggregation played in the game. It was a real good warm-up for the local athletes.

The Filipinos dented the rubber five times in the very first frame and veritably swept the Chinese off their feet who were panicky-stricken at this bating display.

Bautista, who started the hulking for the P. I. contingent, was removed from the game in the third canto when he split the middle finger of his right hand in scooping up a hot grounder off George Ng. Armando then went in and proceeded to strike out the side. Armando gave a great pitching performance on the opening day. This lad looks plenty good.

The Filipinos scored another run in the second, one in the fourth frame, 4 in the sixth and opened up a stiff barrage in the seventh which was good for 11 runs when the smoke cleared away. They chalked up three more in the final frame for a total of 25 runs while the Chinese brought in their lone run in the final canto when Yee doubled, Chung grounded out, H. Chung walked, T. C. Koo grounded out and Yee came home from third. B. Chang then grounded out.

JAPAN AND THE PHILIPPINES

To Meet In Tennis Final

Manila, May 14. Won Lost
Philippines 3 0
Japan 3 0
Netherland Indies 0 3
China 0 3

The tennis representatives of Netherlands Indies and China were virtually placed out of the running for the Tenth Far Eastern tennis championships yesterday when they were beaten in the doubles by the Philippines and Japan, respectively. However, four more singles will be played this afternoon at 3 o'clock by the tennis aces of these countries, but the results will have no bearing whatsoever in determining who will play in the championship round of the series.

By winning the doubles yesterday afternoon both Japan and the Philippines earned the right to meet in the finals and contest the Orient tennis title. Racket wielders of these countries will play four singles and one doubles beginning on Thursday afternoon, the meet ending on Saturday afternoon.

The Philippines team consisting of Mauricio Zamora and Alfredo Diy, national champions found stiff opposition against the Hoerip brothers, representing Netherlands Indies. The local tennis artists won out after a gruelling five-set battle by the scores of 8-1, 8-6, 6-8, 7-9 and 6-2.

The other match between H. Sato and S. Yamagishi of Japan and Khoo Hoo-yei and Kho Sin-kle of China resulted in favour of the Nipponese by the count of 6-3, 7-5 and 6-2.

The match between Japan and China was featured by the smashing game of youthful Kho Sin-kle who at times was brilliant, but wild at other times. During the match Kho scored at least four service aces, and won points for his team through hard base line driving. Khoo Hoo-yei, his more matured partner, played a consecutive game and put up a fine exhibition of tennis.

The Japanese pair played in spirited tennis. Their volleying and back court attacks contributed to the downfall of their Chinese adversaries. Sato was particularly effective with the forehand attack and smashes near the net.

Unexpected Opposition

Mauricio Zamora and Alfredo Diy, wearing the colours of the Philippines found unexpected opposition from the N. I. tennis team. The Hoerip brothers lost the first two sets, but fought tenaciously in the next two and forced their Filipino rivals to concede these sets to them to tie the count at 2-all.

The local tennis team dished out brilliant tennis in the first set and allowed their opponents to win only one game. In the next set, however, Diy was erratic, but somehow they beat their rivals by 8-6.

The next two sets found the N. I. tennis stars fighting valiantly and playing more steady tennis than their rivals. They took the third set, 6-3, and also won the fourth, 7-9. Play in both sets involved long and brilliant rallies by both teams; play in many games having been deuced three or four times before they could be decided.

The Final Set

In the fifth and deciding set, the Filipino pair took an early lead, 4-0. The Japanese rallied and took the next two games, but at this juncture they showed signs of tiring and taking advantage of this Zamora and Diy annexed the next two games to clinch the set and the match.

The first day of the Far Eastern tennis tournament on Saturday found the racket wielders of the Philippines and Japan victorious over the tennis aces of Netherlands Indies and China, respectively. Big crowds of tennis enthusiasts witnessed the four singles matches which were held simultaneously during the afternoon.

S. Sato, captain of the Japanese tennis team found little difficulty disposing of Khoo Hoo-yei in three straight sets, 6-0, 6-4 and 6-4. Yamada's team mate scored another victory against Kho Sin-kle, 6-3, 6-4 and 6-4.

Trade Treaty Parleys To Commence Soon

Sonneville, of Netherlands Indies, winning the match by 6-0, 6-4 and 6-2. Leonardo Gavia, Jr., P. I. national champion, won from Samboedjo Hoerip after a gruelling four-set battle, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4 and 7-5.

Kimura, Japanese consul general in Manila, K. L. Kwong, Chinese consul in this city, C. T. Wang, head of the Chinese athletic delegation, and many prominent persons in this city.

TRAINING GALLOPS Interesting Tryouts Yesterday

(BY "MORNING DEW")

Yesterday's gallops at the track were full of interest in view of the close proximity of the two-day's meeting commencing on Saturday.

Dealing first with Australian ponies, the race over a mile and a quarter should prove very interesting, as there seem to be a strong feeling that Night Star will win this event. His mile of 2.09 was not very impressive, though the pony looked very fit. Able Amazon's 1.58.3 for the mile was far more convincing, and if both these ponies were to face the starter, there is little doubt which one I would choose.

Mr. Norman Deitz, I hear will be riding Woodland Stag, whose times will also be found below. Another nice gallop is that of Bag Tor who was sent over a mile and a quarter.

To come now to China ponies. Cossack's Beauty, who is the strongest challenger to Soldier of Britain over the six furlongs, went over three quarters of a mile in 1.37.3 finishing in 28.4. West Parade and Great Hall went together over six furlongs and finished together, taking 1.37.4 for the trip. These two ponies may be conspicuous during the coming meeting.

For those who want to study the training times, it may be interesting to add that Gay Butterfly, Gladiator, Cavalcade, King's Justice, High Speed, The Redbank, King's Fancy and Monoplane finished full of running.

Changsha, May 1. A dairy in Changsha is now a reality. FARM VISITOR EMPLOYED

New Territories Agricultural Association

The Third Annual Meeting of the New Territories Agricultural Association of Hong Kong was held at the Chinese Y.M.C.A., Kowloon, on 12th instant.

Those present were the Rev. H. R. Wells, O.B.E. (Chairman), Mr. Chas. Tetzel, Hon. Secretary, Mr. T. P. Tong, Hon. Treasurer, Lady Ho Tung, Major C. M. Manners, O.B.E., Messrs. Tang Wei Tong, Fung Ki Cheuk, Chiu Kam To, Ng Sing Chi, Tang Yau Shan and Tang Pak Kai, members of the Executive Committee, Messrs. Ma Yu Ting, Li Sai Lung, Yu Kai Nam, Lam Woon Chee and others.

The Chairman said that the finance of the Association was satisfactory, showing a credit balance of $2,626.96 as against $2,088.78 for 1932 and $1,170.29 for 1931. This result was indicative of a continuance of the usual generous support from the public which made him and the other members of the Executive Committee feel the more grateful to the donors whose names were included in the Financial Statement. The main support was from the Hong Kong Government whose annual grant of $2,000 was another example of its interest in the welfare of the people of the New Territories.

The Annual Show was held on January 3 and 4, 1934. The Hon. Mr. J. P. Braga kindly performed the opening ceremony and Mr. E. H. Williams, District Officer North, also honoured the Show with his presence and distributed the prizes. There were 2,270 entries, a greater number than the previous year's and noticeable improvement in the quality of the exhibits was evident. The Committee were also pleased to see a larger number of visitors to the Show, including a good many school boys and girls from Hong Kong.

The special display put up by Mr. H. Green of the Botanical and Forestry Department was a feature of the Show, as it had always been, and was much admired by the visitors, and so were Lady Ho Tung's exhibits from Tung Ying Hok Po and their excellent set up. Referring to the work of the Association the Chairman said that a farm visitor was employed about the middle of 1933. The farm visitor had had previous agricultural experience at the Lingnam University, Canton. He was now working in close cooperation with a few schools in the New Territories and his lectures to farmers in the various districts were well attended but the crying need of the Association was a site for a central organization and experimental purposes. At present the work of the Association was greatly handicapped through the lack of its own headquarters. This matter had had the attention of the Executive Committee for some time and it was recommended that the incoming officers, whoever they might be, should complete arrangements for the acquisition of a suitable plot for the Association at an early date.

The question of cheap loans to farmers with "lans" to help in disposing of their produce was also mooted last year. Regulations for what appeared to be a workable scheme were drawn up and the project almost came to fruition but it was eventually decided to shelve it pending the result of the enquiry of a Commission appointed by the Government into the possibilities of providing facilities for the New Territories farmers.

The Executive Committee had also felt that the needs and difficulties of the farmers should be carefully studied on the spot and it had recently been proposed to call for volunteers among Committee members who would be willing to spend one or two Sundays a month visiting farmers and co-operating with the farm visitor in his work. This suggestion was also strongly recommended to the incoming officers.

The Rev. H. R. Wells were unanimously re-elected Chairman for another term and the other office bearers remained practically unchanged.

AIR SERVICE RESUMED

Canton, May 16.—The Canton-Lungchow air service was resumed yesterday when the plane "Chang-keung" carrying three parcels of mails hopped off for the western terminus.

The plane left this city at 7 a.m. yesterday. Owing to dense fog it flew very slowly and arrived at Wuchow at 10.55 in the same morning. It is learned that after staying in Wuchow for about two hours it continued its flight towards Nanning at 1.50 p.m.

MAY CRIMINAL SESSION OPENS

MRS. POLSON'S ASSAILANT GETS SEVEN YEARS

Six Prisoners Plead Guilty Before Puisne Judge

The May Criminal Sessions, with an exceptionally heavy calendar, commenced yesterday, the Chief Justice being occupied with the case in which Ho Man Fai was charged with attacking Mrs. Polson with a chopper, while the Puisne Judge heard the case in which two Chinese were tried with robbing a "nunnery" in the New Territories.

Mrs. Polson's assailant was found guilty and sentenced to seven years' hard labour. The two men who robbed the nunnery were also found guilty and sentenced to three years' hard labour each.

In six other cases which were called before the Puisne Judge, the accused pleaded guilty.

Wanted To Spend Forged Notes In Macao

A complete denial of having attacked Mrs. Polson at all was made by the prisoner at the close of the Crown case against him. Mr. J. A. Fraser, Assistant Attorney General prosecuted and the following were empanelled on the jury: Messrs. G. B. Smith-Thompson (foreman), J. L. Adam, Kam Cheong, D. J. MacAdam, J. T. Cotton, Jnr., H. S. Komor and C. Lauritsen.

Mr. Fraser said the prisoner was in the employ of the Fuk Cheong Tai compradore whose shop was just below Stanley Terrace, for about 10 months prior to last August. At about 7.30 p.m. on the night in question, accused left the shop to collect some pass books at Stanley Terrace. An hour later he was leaving the Terrace when he came upon Mrs. Polson who was just going out, talking to Mr. Pollock and Mrs. Chalmers. Mrs. Polson had a dog on a lead and this dog and others nearby barked at the prisoner and one may have bitten him. Mrs. Chalmers called the dogs off but accused stopped and pulled up his trouser leg and said something to Mr. Pollock about having been bitten. He then returned to the shop.

Serious Wounds

A few minutes later, continued the Assistant Attorney General, Mrs. Polson left her friends and proceeded down the incline from the Terrace. On the way she met the accused coming up. After passing her he stopped. She turned round and saw him with a chopper in his raised hand. He attacked her savagely with the chopper inflicting wounds on her head, hip, arm, and leg and then attacked the dog so furiously that it later had to be destroyed. When she saw her dog being attacked, Mrs. Polson kicked at the man and screamed and he ran off. She staggered on a little way until she met some neighbours who assisted her and later sent her to Hospital.

The accused's quarters were searched but he had gone. A knife from the shop was also missing. It transpired later that he had gone to his employers' other shop in Wanchai and inveigled $10 out of them on a false pretext, after which he disappeared. He was not seen again until he was arrested leaving a Canton boat and then he flatly denied the charge. The case mainly rested on the evidence of Mrs. Polson, but both she and Mrs. Chalmers were able to identify the accused.

ACCUSED'S STORY

After evidence in support of Mr. Fraser's opening had been given, the accused elected to make a statement from the dock. He prefaced his story with the remark that he had not even the courage to kill a chicken let alone attack a human being.

The reason why he left the Colony was that he had lost $10 belonging to his employers and not being able to raise money to make good this loss, he decided to leave Hong Kong. He admitted having kicked Mrs. Polson's dog, but denied that he had used a chopper at all.

While in the country, a friend who had come from Hong Kong told him that he was wanted by the police for attacking Mrs. Polson. Accused felt indignant about this and wanted to come to the Colony immediately to explain matters, but his aged mother would not let him do so.

Accused pointed out that with regard to the chopper, other folks of the shop might have got hold of it.

After his Lordship had summed up, the jury returned a unanimous verdict of "Guilty."

Before passing sentence of seven years' hard labour, his Lordship intimated to the accused that in view of the doctor's evidence he was lucky he did not face a more serious charge.

Puisne Judge's Cases

Before the Puisne Judge, Mr. Justice Jacks, Tang Seng and Ip Ching were found guilty by the jury on a charge of robbery by two or more on March 26, at Chau An Yuen Nunnery, Shap Po Keung, New Territories.

A charge of receiving stolen property which had been brought as an alternative against the two men were dropped. Mr. W. J. Lockhart Smith prosecuted.

Sentence of three years' hard labour was passed on each. A similar term was passed on Chung Yam, who pleaded guilty at the outset.

POSSESSED THREE

REVOLVERS

Pleading guilty to possession of three revolvers and ammunition, Lo Ping, alias Lo Ying Ping was sentenced to three years' hard labour.

Mr. Lockhart Smith, prosecuting stated that the defendant had been sentenced in 1930 to three years' hard labour for criminal intimidation. He was concerned with the negotiation for ransom of people who were kidnapped following the piracy of the Delai Maru. It was a reasonable inference that something similar was about to be carried out by the accused.

The arms were found in a tin of biscuits, and the accused in a statement from the dock claimed that he intended to take them to his country to protect his shop against bandits.

FORGED BANKNOTES

For possession of $170 worth of forged banknotes purporting to be notes of the Chartered Bank, Wu Sam was sentenced to three years' hard labour.

In the statement to the Court, after he had pleaded, guilty, the accused said that he had no intention of passing the notes in Hong Kong, but had intended spending the money in Macao.

ROBBED A PROSTITUTE

For having participated in an armed robbery whereby a prostitute was victimised, Chan Sek Ping was sentenced to two years' hard labour.

The crime was committed two years ago and for which one Mak Poon had already been arrested and sentenced. It was stated that the two men sent for a prostitute, who, upon arrival at an address in Lascar Row, was held up and robbed.

ANOTHER ARMED ROBBER

Sentence of three years' hard labour was passed on a Chan Chiu who pleaded guilty to armed robbery at 80 Jaffe Road on March 15.

MACDONALD'S STATEMENT

Effort To Maintain Peace

London, May 16.

The Prime Minister, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, and the Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, yesterday received a joint deputation from the Trades Union Congress and the Labour Party, who presented resolutions on armament and the work of the League of Nations, representing the considered views of the National Joint Council of the British Labour movement.

Among other points, the resolution urged the Government to take all possible steps to bring Soviet Russia and the United States into close association with the League upon the basis of the Pact of Paris.

It stated that the National Joint Council would warmly welcome an indication that Soviet Russia was willing to become a member of the League and considered that the foundations of peace would thereby be strengthened. It appealed to the British Government to extend an invitation of this kind to Russia.

The resolution also urged the Government to make a supreme effort to bring the Disarmament Conference to a successful conclusion.

In speeches supporting the resolution, members of the delegation said that they had no faith in the policy of defensive alliances, and regarded the League of Nations imperfect as it might be, as the only practical instrument for maintaining peace and stability.

The Prime Minister said that in the last two years the British Government had used all their influence to obtain a Disarmament convention. They had put forward a practical plan, and had even inserted actual figures and levels. Even after the despatch of a special mission to the capitals chiefly concerned no agreement had yet been reached, and nothing could be done without an agreement.

The present position of the Disarmament Conference was a great disappointment to him. The British Government had taken the risk of setting an example in Disarmament which had, unhappily, not been followed, and had held back programmes of expenditure in the hope of reaching an international convention. Meanwhile, they would continue to use every effort in the cause of international peace.

Sir John Simon said that he welcomed the putting forward of definite suggestions despite the difficulties involved. The Government took every opportunity of close contact and co-operation with the United States. The London Naval Conference and the World Economic Conference, were instances in point not less than the Disarmament Conference.

But it must be borne in mind, he said, that the United States Government stood in a very special position both politically and constitutionally.

As regards Soviet Russia, it had been the practice that Governments wishing to join the League should themselves make an application. The Soviet Government had not so applied, but they knew that if they did so they would be welcomed by the British Government as he himself had stated in the House of Commons.—British Wireless.

DEPORTATION CASES

Lam Wai Man who was arrested recently for returning from banishment was brought before Mr. Justice Jacks and upon pleading guilty was sentenced to two years' hard labour.

His record showed that the first conviction against him was in 1929 when he had been twice convicted and banished. He had returned from banishment three times in all.

Chung Sun was sentenced to eighteen months' hard labour for returning from banishment. His record showed that he first came to the notice of the police in 1931 for robbery, when he was caught and sentenced.

Chung claimed that he was born in the New Territories, but that as his parents were away in Singapore he could not prove his assertion.

His Lordship said that inquiries would be made into his claim, but pointed out that he felt sure proper inquiries must have been made prior to the issuing of the original banishment order.

HONOUR FOR WAR VETERANS

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Berlin, May 15.

The series of new laws passed by the Cabinet and issued here on Tuesday night provide an honour for war veterans and increased taxation of Germans giving up national residence.

The special decree creates a cross of honour to be awarded to every participant in the World War and also to widows and parents of all front fighters who died of wounds or imprisonment. An additional regulation provides stiff penalties for unauthorised wearing of war decorations of any kind.

The other chief decree vastly increases the present "tax on fugitives" by lowering the exemption line from two hundred thousand to fifty thousand marks.

DISMISSAL OF PASTORS

Report Denied

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Berlin, May 15.

An official denial was issued here on Tuesday of the Foreign Press reports that two to three hundred evangelical pastors were dismissed without notice and that returned communications to church authorities were unopened. The denial emphasises that the dismissal of the church officials, being legally regulated, can take place only after due disciplinary procedure. The official communication further records that only in a few scattered cases have clerics been retired and these were within the church law, with the payment of pension—thus not discharged. All individual cases where disciplinary proceedings are pending were indefinitely discontinued by the Reich Bishop's "peace message" of April 15.—Transocean Kuo Min.

CABLE NEWS IN BRIEF

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1891. Received, May 16, 1:30 a.m.)

Moscow, May 15.
Details of the balloon disaster which sent two German scientists crashing to death near the Russian village of Sebesch late on Monday night, began to trickle in here on Tuesday. A Russian peasant going home late in the morning, from the village bar noticed a huge portion of a partly deflated balloon tangled in the tree tops in the nearby forest. An investigating squad was immediately despatched to the scene and they found a torn, tattered gas-bag still containing portion of the helium supply, and a smashed, splintered gondola clamped around a single corpse.

Papers found on the body identified the dead balloonist as Masch, the technical assistant of the scientific expedition which took off from Bitterfeld, forty miles South of Berlin, early on Sunday morning.

The body of the chief balloonist, Dr. Schrenk of Berlin was discovered in the early hours of the morning, twelve miles distant from the balloon's final resting place, lying in an open prairie land.

The first post-mortem examinations led to the belief that the unfortunate men died of freezing and oxygen shortage, long before being dashed to the ground. The sudden extreme and unpredictable shift of weather over the week-end was generally blamed for the disaster, an expert holding the theory that the balloon entered the mortally cold layer of atmosphere so suddenly that the balloonists were frozen, too stiff to be able to operate the descent controls.—Transocean Kuo Min.

HAPSBURG FAMILY
Basle, May 15.
A sort of limited Hapsburg family council is taking place here. Archduke Otto, eldest son of the late Emperor Charles and pretender to the thrones of Austria and Hungary has arrived here to confer with his great uncle, Archduke Eugene, concerning the prospects of the former Imperial family's early return to Austria.

Archduke Eugene, who was Field Marshal in the old Austrian army, has been living in Switzerland for some years past but was recently granted permission to take up residence in Austria where he is expected to assume the leadership of the legitimist movement.

Although the ban on the return of the Hapsburgs has been eliminated in the newly proclaimed Austrian constitutions restrictions are still legally in force but they may be rescinded by the Dollfuss Government after a settlement has been reached concerning the surrender to the Hapsburgs of their confiscated private property.—Transocean Kuo Min.

AGREEMENT EXTENDED

Berlin, May 15.
The German and French Governments have agreed that the provisional trade accord which would otherwise lapse on May 20 be prolonged till June 30, pending the trade negotiations now in progress between the two countries.—Transocean Kuo Min.

THAELMANN'S ARREST

Berlin, May 15.
Contrary to reports appearing in the Foreign Press, it is stated in informed quarters here that proceedings against the former German communist leader, Thaelmann on a charge of high treason, are still in the stage of preliminary examination and that the date for the trial is not yet fixed.—Transocean Kuo Min.

TROTSKY'S MOVEMENTS

Paris, May 15.
Trotsky's latest movements have become somewhat mysterious. Several Press reports from Chamoni state that a clean-shaven stranger who made an appearance there some days ago, accompanied by a woman and two other men and who registered at the hotel as "Jean Frank, commercial traveller" was identified by the eagle-eyed sleuths who had trailed him all the way from Paris as Trotsky, minus his famous beard. Trotsky and his party subsequently left by motor for the Swiss border and crossed into Swiss territory, according to these reports, which, however, are still lacking in official confirmation.—Transocean Kuo Min.

SATOH'S BROTHER

Interview With The Press

Tokyo.—Jiro Satoh was the victim of the Japanese Lawn Tennis Association's campaign to raise funds for the 1934 Davis Cup expedition. Taro Satoh, the suicide's elder brother, charged, in an interview with the newspaper "Asahi".

Jiro Satoh committed suicide by leaping from a steamship which was carrying him and other Japanese Davis Cup players to Europe. "I understand that Jiro wanted to leave the ship at Singapore because of illness," Taro Satoh told the newspaper. "The association insisted that he continue because the campaign for funds still in progress, would be adversely affected by his withdrawal. It is regrettable the association placed finances above my brother's health. Even a soldier at the front is invalided home when ill, but not a Davis Cup player."

Hideo Nishimura, National champion and member of the Davis Cup team, informed the Lawn Tennis Association by wireless that Satoh had left a letter, explaining his act, for his teammates.

The letter, as made public, said: "I would have been unable to help our team. On the contrary I would have been a source of worry and I hope you will do your utmost to do better than I would have done. I pray and believe you will." The cup team, in addition to Nishimura, includes Jiro Yamashita and Jiro Fujikura.

Friends said the physical and mental strain induced by a hard international campaign which carried him through the French, Wimbledon and United States championships and a summer of Davis Cup play had brought on a nervous collapse.

His fiancée, Sanaye Okada, herself a well-known player, blamed school difficulties, his loneliness—he was an orphan—and his poor prospects for getting a job, as contributory factors.

"Jiro did not want to go to Europe," she said, "but the Japanese Tennis Association officials persuaded him to make one more Davis Cup expedition."

In New York, Fred Perry England's leading player in defense of the cup, who recently returned from a tour of the Far East and the antipodes described Satoh as "one of the finest players and best sportsman who ever walked on a court," and said his loss killed Japan's chances.

FLIERS RISK DEATH

Fly Disabled Ship In Unique Experiment

When their plane became disabled at 6,000 feet with two brace wires controlling the right tail surface broken, two Army fliers, bound from Washington, D. C. to Dayton, Ohio, recently scorned their parachutes and kept their plane aloft by skillful maneuvering for 100 miles, thereby saving the government $30,000.

Lieut. T. A. Sims, who, with Lieut. A. H. Johnson piloted the plane, modestly admitted that although they would have been justified in "bailing out," but agreed to risk a landing to discover how the plane would act under the circumstances.

"With the right horizontal tail surface drooping at a 20-degree angle, causing the plane to wobble and making normal progress impossible, they kept the ship in flight by reducing engine speed, flying with the nose high up in a stalling position so that there was little load on the tail surface."

Both are experienced pilots and had just completed a wind tunnel test of the plane two weeks previous in their studies at Wright Field. This fact urged them to try out the theory that a plane might be kept in flight with a damaged tail.

Momentarily expecting the tail to drop off, they were relieved to sight Bolling Field. And luck played into their hands. After making a safe landing, the damaged tail fell off as the plane was taxiing into a hangar.

They tore up a set of maps writing notes to one another as to whether they would land or jump.

HUNTER'S DEATH

Chinese Shot By Accident

Singapore, May 7.
While two Chinese were out hunting wild boar near the Tupai waterfall on Saturday, one of them, a man in the middle forties, is alleged to have been accidentally shot in the thighs, buttock and the lower part of the abdomen.

The injured person was at once rushed to the Taping District Hospital in a critical state, and was operated on immediately for the removal of a number of pellets. In spite of all that could be done, he passed away the following morning.

After Bear
From what can be gathered, it appears that at about 1 p.m. both the men set out to shoot wild boar, each being armed with a sporting gun. After rounding the valley beyond the waterfall for some time, they separated, one stationing himself at the bottom part of a hill, whilst the other walked up the hill. The view of each other was obscured by small trees and bushes.

Whilst they were thus keeping watch, a wild boar suddenly came out of a thicket and ran past between the men. The man at the bottom was the first to see the boar, and apparently in the excitement of the moment he was said to have at once opened fire. Simultaneously, he heard cries coming from the direction where his companion was, and running up to the place he saw his companion lying on the ground injured.

FRENCH AIR LINE TO SOUTH CHINA

25 Services Covering 24,000 Miles Operated

Le Bourget, May 10.
Gen. Dugail, Minister of Air, yesterday visited the plant of the Air France, during the course of which he bestowed the Legion of Honour upon several aviators.

A comprehensive review of the activities of Air France, the French aviation monopoly, was given by Mr. Roume, president of the company. The organization, he said, had developed and is operating 25 lines, covering a distance of 24,000 miles.

For the operation of these lines, 2,077 persons are employed, while 210 planes are utilized. During the summer, he stated, the company's aeroplanes average 16,000 miles daily.

Lines between Paris and London, and between Paris and Prague, will soon be provided with large cabin planes accommodating 50 passengers, with a speed of 180 miles each an hour.

In addition, the line from Marseilles to Saigon, will be extended to south China—Havas.

A contract for the establishment of regular Zeppelin line between Germany and Brazil has been signed by a representative of German Luftschiff and Zeppelin companies with Brazilian Minister of Transport.—Havas.

CHESS CHAMPIONSHIP

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Bayreuth, May 15.
Play in the sixteenth game of chess championship match was resumed on Tuesday. Bogoljubow who was in a hopeless position resigned after a few moves. The score is now ten points to six in favour of Alekhine who won five games, drew ten and lost one.

The seventeenth game will be played at the famous spa, Bad Kissingen—Transocean Kuo Min.

While landing, the plane was able to turn in one direction only and they notified Bolling Field to have an ambulance ready.

The last 500 feet of altitude was the most nerve wracking, Sims said, as they knew that if anything broke, they could not bail out below that altitude.

Had the right tail surface broken off, the plane would have gone into a vertical dive.

Sims said that he thought breakage of the wire braces was due to faulty installation. They were flying an experimental ship.

Briggs was showing his neighbor over his house.

"There's my equestrian portrait," he said, pointing to a picture on the wall.

"But what makes you call it a snapshot?" asked Briggs.

"Well, you're still on the horse,"—Moncton Transcript.
